ORIGIN OF WASHINGTON 1783 CENTS

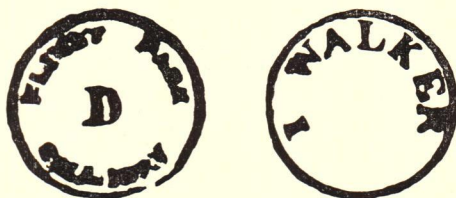

By

GEORGE FULD, LM 434

Paper read before the Educational Forum, A.N.A., Cleveland convention, 1964

PERHAPS the most important series of early American coinage are those depicting Gen. George Washington. Unfortunately, although there is a great deal of sentimental interest in this series, very little has been published on the origin, rarity, and (more particularly) die variations of these most unusual coins. Here I present, in detail, the origin of the Washington cents dated 1783. To refresh your memory the following are the major types of this coinage: The Unity States cent, the double head cent, the military bust cent, the draped bust cent, and the draped bust cent with a button on the toga. One additional was not even listed in the monumental work of W. J. Davis on 19th Century English Tokens. After a great deal of study under high powered magnification, we discovered that the under-type token read I. WALKER, FLIMBY PARK COLLIERY. Fortunately, this under-type token was listed as No. 70 in the colliery section of Davis and Water's book on tickets and passes³. A rubbing was in the British museum. The National Coal Board of England informs us that John Walker did not purchase the Flimby Park mine in Wales until 1802⁴. This colliery token was struck about 1815, as other pieces in this series had their origin about piece, that is, the Georgius Triumpho cent, dated 1783, could be mentioned. However, this piece, we believe, is part of the so-called bungtown series and will be discussed separately.

With only one glaring exception in the literature¹ everyone has taken for granted that these pieces were of a contemporary nature, probably struck before 1790.

In tracing this series, the first important clue was a 1783 draped bust piece overstruck on an English token. We acquired this piece from the Brand collection about 5 years ago, after it had been in the two famous collections of John G. Mills and Richard Winsor². When we obtained this piece we noticed it was an early die state of the draped bust cent. Naturally, we assumed it to be struck over one of the English tokens of the Conder period of 1786 to 1798, but after searching every available catalog, we could find no trace of such a token struck in that period. In fact, the under-type piece this time. Thus, the early die state of the draped bust Washington token must have been struck at a later period. Faced with this information, we decided to see if this could be confirmed by other data. Before continuing, we should mention that the Washington pieces dated 1791, 1792, 1793, and 1795 definitely were struck when dated. Among other things, some are illustrated and described in English books and listings published in the 1795 to 1801 period⁵. Notably, the 1783 coinage is nowhere mentioned in any literature before 1850. The following points can support the contention of when the 1783 pieces were made:

1. No portrait of Washington, of the type shown on these 1783 pieces, was available in 1783.

2. The word "cent" was not conceived or used for coinage until 1786. Jefferson in 1784 proposed to the Continental Congress the use of the decimal coinage system, but the word

"cent" was not used until April, 1786.

3. The reverse on the Unity States cent, using the inscription UNITY STATES OF AMERICA and the denomination 1/100, first was used on the patterns of 1792 and on the wreath cents of 1793. The reverse of the Unity States must have been copied from this coin (To say the U. S. wreath was copied from the Unity piece is like claiming that Jonah swallowed the whale).

4. The edge denticles within a raised flat border, as used on these coins, was not adopted on any English coinage or tokens until 1806 and was not inroduced on American coinage until 1828.

5. The corded edge used on some of the military bust cents first was used on English copper coinage of 1806 and on tokens first issued in 1812.

6. The bust on the military bust cent strongly resembles that used on the Field Marshal Wellington pieces struck after 1810 for Canada⁷.

7. The seated Liberty reverse used on the military and draped bust pieces undoubtedly was copied from the figure of Britannia by Kuchler, who used it first for engraving the dies for the Soho mint English copper coinage of 1797, struck by Boulton. It is not similar to Britannia on earlier British coinage nor similar to that used on state copper coinage in the 1785-89 period in America.

8. The date 1783 has the significance of the Treaty of Paris, ending the American Revolution, and, in an Englishman's eyes, the first date recognizing the independence of the United States. Perhaps they were issued on the 40th anniversary of Independence in 1823?

9. The hubbing process used to produce the many virtually identical dies for the military and draped bust pieces was technically unfeasible until well after 1805.

10. In T. R. Lord's & Company publication in 1853, being a Supplement to the Cincinnati Detector and Bank Note Report Containing Facsimiles of Various Gold and Silver Coins Most Generally Found in Circulation, on page 24, the Washington and Independence 1783 cent is illustrated with the following inscription beneath: ONE CENT (WASHINGTON'S DAY) ONE CENT. This obviously means that the denomination was considered one cent and its value in circulation was one cent and the coin was circulated at this very late date (1853)⁸.

11. As mentioned previously, the English token books of the 1790s do not mention or show any of these 1783 coins.

12. Two sets of dies for these pieces still are in existence (the two restrike draped bust pieces). When these pieces first were restruck in 1851 and 1860, it was revealed that these dies were made "contemporarily" but never had been used until restriking. It is far more likely these dies were preserved 20 or 30 years, before restriking, than 70 years. It should be noted that these dies were sold at an A. N. A. auction in 1948 and have not appeared since⁹.

13. As mentioned previously, the coin struck over the Flimby Park colliery piece could not have been made until after 1815.

14. Of perhaps the most important significance in proof of origin is the actual meaning of the initials T. W. I. and E. S., which appear in exergue on the reverse of the military bust cent and draped bust with button cent. Henry Chapman, at one time, speculated that the initials T. W. I. stood for Thomas Wyon the First, but this cannot be given validity as Wyon never marked other pieces in this manner. Chapman interpreted the meaning of the initials E. S. as E . . . Sculptit—the Latin meaning "He sculptured it" or "He engraved it." However, this interpretation, to my knowledge, never has been used on coinage¹⁰. In addition, in consulting all contemporary references on medalists and die sinkers, especially Forrer's Dictionary of Medalists, there are no known engravers of the period prior to 1815 with initials T. W. I.¹¹ About 1820, Thomas Wells Ingram began practice at the Soho mint, and in 1827, among other items, he issued calendar medals with his address at 131 Snow Hill, Birmingham¹². However, none of the references attribute the initials T. W. I. on the Washington pieces to him. Based on all these facts, and Ingram being the only known engraver with these initials doing work in this period, it seems reasonably certain the engraver of these pieces was Thomas Wells Ingram. Ingram was not born until after 1783. It is very likely these Washington pieces were early work of Ingram's, and thus are rather crude compared with his later work.

We believe the initials E. S. are those of the engraver of the etching from which Ingram copied the portrait. Very likely this would be Edward Savage, whose portraits were readily available in London, showing Washington in military uniform¹³.

15. The only author, to our knowledge, who assumed all the 1783 pieces to be noncontemporary is Frank Higgins, who published the article in the 1902 Numismatic Circular. He admitted direct disagreement with the widely known American author, Sylvester S. Crosby. For some strange reason, no writer since 1902 has even questioned the pieces.

The "Unity States" cent.

The Georgius Triumpho cent.

The Melbourne mule, made in 1851, with the reverse of the plain edge restrike.

In conclusion, based on the preceding 15 points, it is inconceivable that any of the Washington 1783 cents were struck before 1815 and it is most likely they were struck around 1820. Thus, in the strictest sense, they are not a part of the early American series. However, since they are akin to the regular Washington series as listed in the "Red Book" and Standard Catalog, and as these publications list many colonials of more questionable origin, it would be advisable to explain their date of origin in the colonial section of the catalog. The fact the dies for the pieces were made and the coins struck almost 50 years after their date will no more destroy the standing of this series than the fact the 1804 dollar was made in 1834 and 1858, and that the 1913 Liberty head nickel and 1884 and 1885 trade dollar never were legally coined.

Again, we must emphasize that all the other Washington coins discussed, except these 1783s, undoubtedly are contemporary with the dates shown. We feel there is no basis for questioning them. The Georgius Triumpho piece, because of its great similarity to the bungtown series, probably was contemporary with its date.

The most amazing point, in bringing the subject to light for the first time in 150 years, is why did the great collectors of early American coins in the 19th century fail to realize these pieces were not contemporary with their dating? Why did such exacting students as Sylvester S. Crosby and W. S. Baker fail to point out that there were ten distinct die combinations of the military bust cent and eight distinct die combinations of the draped bust cent? (As late as 1885, W. S. Baker, author of the only standard reference book on Washingtoniana, thought the draped bust cent with the button on the toga was unique. Actually, three die combinations of this piece are known.) Or did scholars such as Baker and Crosby refuse to bother with die varieties because they thought, but could not prove, the pieces were not contemporary with their date? With this final speculative plunge, I conclude my remarks.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The author is deeply indebted to Eric P. Newman of St. Louis and Robert Vlack of West Peabody, Mass., for their invaluable assistance and encouragement during the course of these studies. It is planned that they and the author will compile a complete history of the Washington colonial coins in the near future.

In addition, we wish to thank the Keeper of Coins, Dr. John Walker, of the British museum; Roy N. P. Hawkins of Surrey, England, Library of the National Coal Board in London, for valuable assistance in this work.

Simeon Wilson and Nicolas Graver did the fine photographs accompanying the article.

NOTES

¹In addition to the article by Frank C. Higgins in Spink's Monthly Numismatic Circular, p. 527 Vol. X, 1902, two other writers scoff at the dates on the 1783 pieces. In Jacob R. Eckfeldt and William E. DuBois' New Varieties of Gold and Silver Coins, etc., New York, 1851, in a footnote on p. 68, after discussing the 1791-93 coins, they dismiss the 1783 pieces as follows: "We have some other copper coins, of various sizes, bearing the head of Washington, but as they evidently are mere fancy pieces, of private issue, it has not been thought worthwhile to give them a place among the authorized coins." In John H. Hickcox's Historical Account of American Coinage, Albany, 1858, on p. 83, he says of the double head cent, "A copper piece with the bust of Washington in military costume on each side, WASHINGTON over one bust, and ONE CENT over the other, is believed to be a modern issue."

⁶Actually, in 1784, in Jefferson's proposal, the "cent" was referred to only as "1/100 of a dollar." The word "cent" was introduced for the first time in 1786, in ⁸The reference in Lord's Cincinnati Detector probably was copied from Thompson's Coin Chart Manual, which lists coins in circulation, published in New York, 1848. On p. 36, the draped bust cent is listed, "One cent, of Washington's time," which infers it was made earlier, but still in circulation. Thompson's 1849 Detector no longer lists the Washington piece!

⁹Frank J. Katzen, The A.N.A. Convention Auction, August 26-27, 1948.

¹⁰Higgins op. cit. also attributed the tokens to Thomas Wyon, inventor, and said he operated a flourishing medal shop in Regent street about 1818. Actually, Leonard Forrer in Biographical Notes on Medallists, in Spink's Monthly Numismatic Circular, p. 615 (Vol. 22, 1914) discusses Thomas Wyon Sr., who practiced with his brother from 1797, moved to London in 1800, was appointed chief engraver of His Majesty's seals in 1816, and died in 1830. His pieces, if signed, use T. WYON, WYON, or T. W., but never T. W. I. Thomas Wyon, Jr., joined his father in 1806 and died in 1817 of consumption. His signature was T. W. JUN., T. WYON. JUN. S., or T. W. JUN. F. He engraved several Wellington medals (1810, 1815) and they were far superior to the crude Wellington Canadian tokens.

¹¹An interesting error was made by James Ross Snowden in A Description of the Medals of Washington, etc., Philadelphia, J. B. Lippincott & Co., 1861, p. 39, where he reads the initials on the military bust cent as T. W. J. K. S. This intriguing error is repeated by L. Forrer in Numismatic Circular, p. 14028 (Vol. 20, 1912).

¹²Forrer lists Ingram in Monthly Numismatic Circular, p. 7700 (Vol. 12, 1904) and says his signature usually occurs in full. His work is not of the caliber of Thomas Wyon. His calendar pieces of 1827 and 1828 are not exceptionally well engraved. See M. & G. Fuld, The Numismatist, p. 416, Apr. 1958.

¹³See W. S. Baker, Engraved Portraits of Washington, Philadelphia, 1880, where he notes Savage made his first oil portrait in 1789. Savage went to London in 1791. Portraits were executed in mezzotinto in 1792-1793 and circulated in London. Usually copies of the Savage portrait were made of Washington in full uniform. The copy reproduced here of the Savage portrait is by J. C. Buttre, reproduced from Washingtoniana or Memorials of the Death of George Washington, by F. B. Hough, Roxbury, Mass., 1865.

STAINLESS STEEL COINS

According to Major D. V. Deane, former director-general of the Indian government mints, pure nickel has been named world's champion coinage metal.

In my opinion, those who have been investigating nickel have over-looked a metal which is not only plentiful but which actually is stockpiled in raw form ready to be made into a relatively cheap, durable, beautiful metal for coinage purposes. Steel, in ton lots, has been stored in warehouses for a long time, and all that is needed to convert this metal to a valuable coin metal is to change it to stainless steel. Silverware has long been rivalled by stainless steel ware, durable, beautiful, nonrustible, and showing little wear no matter how often it is polished.

To sum up, it is my opinion that no metal except gold and silver can equal stainless steel for beauty, durability, and ability to resist wear and corrosion. — RICHARD C. FINCH, A.N.A. 50624

CURRENCY CHANGE IN SOUTH ARABIAN FEDERATION. It has been announced by the federal government that the South Arabian Federation is to change its currency from the East African shilling to the dinar by April 1965. The new currency unit would be worth 20 East African shillings, i.e., £1 sterling ($2.80), and it would be heavily backed by sterling, which would be convertible at a fixed rate. The Federation's membership of the sterling area will not be affected by this change. It is possible that the new currency will also become legal tender in the Eastern Aden Protectorate states which at present are not members of the Federation. — International Financial News Survey

CLEVELAND CONVENTION

By

JEAN BRADFIELD, A.N.A. No. 22233

THE 73rd A.N.A. convention held in the Cleveland-Sheraton, Cleveland, Ohio from August 19th to 22nd had an attendance of 5,455 visitors and 3,860 paid registrations and 480 paid banquet guests.

Arriving, as usual, a day or two before the official opening date we were greeted in the lobby by friends. There's always someone there before you!

By Tuesday the entire lobby was buzzing with members, the mezzanine floor and registration desk being well populated. Members are learning that it's always smart to register early for all activities.

As chairman of registrations, Mrs. Henry Engelman and her committee of 18, deserve medals for the finest job of organization I have ever witnessed at a convention registration desk. As members reached the desk they filled in one printed application blank which listed all activities, registration forms, picked up their badges and tickets and in a matter of five minutes or less were on their way. A carry-all bag listing the convention program on the reverse, enabled you to know at a glance your next activity. Every member of this committee was well informed, courteous and anxious to help in every way. Directly across the aisle was a message desk where one could page anyone on the exhibit or bourse floor. Again those manning this desk were helpful in many ways and rendered a valuable service. There was no need to run from one corner to the other in search of information. This team work, planning and results were evident from the moment you entered the hotel.

As I left the registration desk I sighted a group of old friends. Even Pixie felt more at home as we exchanged greetings.

Tuesday evening's PNG cocktail-dinner afforded a pre-convention get together. Nothing was spared to make this a memorable occasion. From the hors d'oeuvres and cocktails to the chicken Kiev and wild rice dinner served with rose wine to the colorful ice cream dessert, the whole affair was delightful.

PNG dignitaries and guests were at the head table; Former Gov. Michael DiSalle, P. K. Anderson, Kathy Bourbon, C. C. Shroyer, Aubrey Bebee, Art Kagin, James Ruddy, Ben Drieske, Abe Kosoff and Sol Kaplan. A.N.A. board members and their wives were introduced as were other guests.

The first Louis M. Reagan award was presented to Matt Rothert for his book on fractional currency. Arthur Kagin received the PNG past president's award.

By Wednesday most members were ready to participate in activities, one of which was the boat tour. Several chartered buses took groups to the dock. A beautiful, clear and sunny day smiled on us as our little sight-seeing vessel wound its way along the Cuyahoga river. Various types of lift, gate and swinging bridges went into operation enabling our little craft to wend its way along the crooked river. As the young 8-year-old gentleman informed me, cuyahoga means crooked. Cleveland is proud of both its industry and skyline which you see along this trip.

Our group was privileged to experience an exciting sight. At a very narrow point in the river, our captain informed us we would be passing a huge freighter being moved by a small tug boat. As our boat snuggled close to the river's edge to make room, we saw first the tiny tug drawing a several hundred foot freighter through this passage. Sometimes, we were told, these tugs will flip over performing such a task. Dwarfed by the size of this freighter, we were relieved when the all clear whistle blew. Cameras clicked as we stopped to watch the loading of cargo vessels and the marvels of modern machinery.

Back from the excursion with a beautiful afternoon all to ourselves we decided to drive around Cleveland. Paul and Betty Vincze were with us. Our first stop was the world famous Cleveland Art Museum. Time ran short but we did manage to see some beautiful displays. Then came a quick tour of the residential area and a hurried trip back to the hotel for a business meeting.

The day had faded into evening as the time arrived for the women's get-together party in the Empire room. Greeting guests was Marge Gold who ushered us to a choice of plain or spiced punch and cookies. It was so good I decided 12 would be my limit! — punch that is! It really was a nice party enjoyed by all.

By Thursday things were in full swing — there is never time or strength to do and see all, so I missed the zoo trip — I hope the animals forgive me!

At the past presidents' table were, l. to r., Mrs. M. Vernon Sheldon, Mrs. O. H. Dodson, Leonel Panosh, M. Vernon Sheldon, C. C. Shroyer and Mrs. Shroyer.

With a rather full schedule, I was off to the women's luncheon at Higbee's. Planned to perfection, the fruit salad was beautiful, colorful and delicious. The finger sandwiches supplied a limited number of calories which enabled waist watchers to cast discretion to the winds and enjoy angel food cake with strawberries and whipped cream.

And here again were more door prizes! I recognized Adeline Bebee accepting a prize and drawing another winner's number, Dolores Hewitt. Suddenly it became a little embarrassing when three gals from the same table drew winning numbers; Valda Jillette from Greenfield, Mass., Mary Tidlund of Ambert, Mass. and Mrs. Bernstein of Scotch Plains, N. J.! One would have thought it was a contest to see who would be most embarrassed when this writer won her prize and then drew Mrs. Bergen's name as another prize winner from the same table! It was great and loads of fun. After the luncheon, the gals paired off to various activities.

Back to the hotel in time to dress for the Presidential Arts cocktail party. Between bites of sumptuous hors d'oeuvres one said hello to old and new friends. Charming Eva Adams, director of the U. S. mint and her lovely assistant, P. M. Williams, Governor DiSalle, the Clain-Stefanellis, the Paul Vinczes of London, other dignitaries and members of the A.N.A. official family enjoyed a jovial evening.

Time for a good dinner with some friends and then off to the increasingly popular educational forum. Speakers George Fuld, Edward Gans, Felix Schlag and Miss Eva Adams were introduced by Moderator Charles Hoskins, assistant to the director of the Money Museum of the National Bank of Detroit. Each talk was interesting (some will be presented at greater length in The Numismatist) especially the autobiographical sketch of a sculptor's life and his honor in being selected to design the Jefferson nickel.

At the conclusion of the educational meeting Miss Eva Adams invited "veterans" of the assay commission to her suite for a social get-together. P. M. Williams, her able assistant, acted as co-hostess.

I guess there's nothing as sentimental as a numismatist and there's something nostalgic about reminiscing. So it was with those who met that Thursday evening August 20 at the Cleveland convention in Miss Adam's suite. The group, composed of men and women who had served on the assay commission, decided it would be fun to meet each year at the A.N.A. conventions as a social group of oldtime assay commissioners and so OTAC was born!

The idea took hold like a forest fire in a strong and driving wind. In no time at all it was decided someone had to handle the money collected as dues to defray the cost of a reunion party each year. Ray Lefman was acclaimed chief weigher; Matt Rothert, chief assayer; Eva Adams, honorary chairman of the board and P. M. Williams as honorary vice chairman. Vernon Brown would be chief counter. It was decided the bylaws would consist of two sentences: A member is anyone who has served on the assay commission. Dues of $3.00 were set for commissioners and $2.00 for spouses, with the understanding that these dues were collected to defray the cost of the reunion which will take place annually at the A.N.A. convention. And so this fun group will invite new A.N.A. assay commission groups to join the veteran group each year. It is hoped all veterans will also join!

Friday morning came much too soon, but who can sleep when a champagne breakfast awaits? Host, Bill Louth and his charming wife, greeted guests of Medallie Arts for just such an occasion. I must admit I don't habitually drink champagne for breakfast — plebian soul that I am I took a swig of coffee first and you know, it ain't bad! The scrambled eggs, ham and hot biscuits et al seemed to melt away before your very eyes and if anyone had room for lunch after this epicurean delight, more power to him! Bill's guests left well fortified to carry on the business of the day.

One of the most gratifying programs of any convention is the presentation of awards. Each year we see recipients walk away with a glow of pride and appreciation for the honor bestowed upon them by fellow A.N.A. members. Such recognition makes numismatics a highly respected and educational hobby whose rewards are cultural achievements, makes one proud being a part of such an association.

One last chance to catch up on the activities — a spectacular view from the famous Terminal Tower, tour of the zoo, shop or what have you but whatever it is don't leave the convention before you visit the exhibits and bourse room. Exhibit winners were announced in the October Numismatist. It is too bad everyone couldn't have won a prize. We know the judging was extremely difficult, judging and rejudging to a hairline's decision. It may be an honor to be a judge but if anyone thinks it isn't hard work, he should have the opportunity just once!

More fun for the ladies, a wig party — and what a party! It was really a bingo party; when you won, you got to wear a silly wig until another gal won it away from you. In between there were the ever-fattening cookies and coffee beckoning you to enjoy life — start your diets after the convention — after all, who wants to be on a diet at a convention? More female chatter followed the party but finally heavy eyes found us on our way homeward, for tomorrow was the last hectic day with millions of little things left to do.

The men folk were up early, attending meetings or dashing around the exhibits and bourse rooms while the gals went on last minute shopping tours or the beauty shop to enhance their glamour for the banquet.

A delightful luncheon given by Polly and Oscar Dodson left me wondering how I was lucky enough to have been invited. As I scanned the table I felt I should have had the title of editor, publisher, curator, medalist, press agent or at least numismatic reporter. Oh well, I decided to accept riding on my husband's coattails and settled back to enjoy a delicious luncheon.

It was so nice to see Mrs. Bill Louth, the Clain-Stefanellis again and know that I had helped save the day when Polly's zipper broke. I reluctantly helped fix it telling Polly all the while that her wearing a topless dress to the luncheon would make it more memorable. However, when Polly sets her lip tightly you just have to go along with her. We fixed the zipper!

As the party broke up the gals dashed off to pack bags and get things in order for the morrow's departure. Time for a few minutes rest, dressing for the banquet, etc.

Here and there groups gathered to have a before-the-banquet drink. Such gatherings are always fun because after a drink or two, you hear all sorts of gossip! Like the man from the east who suddenly found himself with the honor of paying for the drinks for a cocktail party that had been . . . well, what else do you do when you're the last one?

Then I overheard some favorable comments on Don Decker, who was exhibit chairman with James Kirkwood. Unfortunately Jim Kirkwood was hospitalized prior to the convention and Don Decker took over these duties. We hear that this was one of the best organized arrangements of exhibits. Security rules were strictly adhered to and no one could enter without proper identification.

We were all sorry to hear about Katherine Todd's mishap which resulted in a fractured shoulder and hospitalization. We missed her at the banquet but George reported that she was in good care and resting comfortably.

Praises ran high from every corner for general chairman of the convention, Bob McNamara. Bob, a quiet and unobtrusive person, deserves more than a pat on the back. In every phase of this convention it was evident that leadership and teamwork had resulted in perfection to the minutest detail. Many are not aware that Bob also had a hand in the design of the convention medal.

It isn't often that hotel accommodations are a part of my reporting but I would be remiss if I did not mention at this point that the Sheraton-Cleveland Hotel had no shortcomings when it came to honoring confirmed reservations, rearranging room setups in last minute emergencies, et al. Personnel was courteous and eager to please. Last, but not least the food in all the dining rooms was excellent. It totaled a pleasant experience for all guests.

One little gal who worked diligently and deserves a gold star is Mary Ellen Frahm, of the staff of the Money Museum of the National Bank of Detroit, who worked at Don Sherer's desk at the convention. She was busy every time I passed her but always had a pleasant smile.

Every convention boasts of far away visitors and Cleveland was pleased to see Jimmie N. Lawrence, his wife and two young children from Johannesburg, Africa. Jimmie is president of the International Banknote Society. After traveling so many miles to an A.N.A. convention, we were happy to learn he had won second place in his foreign paper money exhibit.

Another visitor from faraway places was Frederick J. Jeffery from Wiltshire, England. His exhibit of modern foreign coins was very interesting.

Not from so far away was one of our dependable members, August Hausske, who most ably handled the selection and coördination of exhibit judges. This sounds like a simple assignment but when exhibits of the caliber shown at this convention have to be judged, one has to be selective in choosing judges familiar with the specialties as well as the wide field of numismatics.

The talk and excitement was contagious as I overheard various groups talking about the A.N.A. headquarters program. Between Charlie Johnson and Ralph Cleaver who were busy promoting the program and making available the little green envelopes for donations to this program, the idea was becoming apparent to all members that if everyone did his part, this dream would become a reality in the very near future. I even heard speculation that someone might even endow such a headquarters! If this is true, it would be a wonderful memorial to a family name and a tribute to the cultural endeavors of the A.N.A.

With such a pleasant thought I decided it was time to celebrate and head for the banquet. As we entered the banquet hall the table center pieces caught my eye—little did I know I would be the winner of one of these symbols of the A.N.A.

A delightful dinner of roast beef cooked to perfection and accompanied by the proper trimmings was enjoyed by all.

Herbert Bergen as M.C. made some witty remarks and if he was pinch hitting for Curly Mitchell, Curly better watch out. Bergen did a bang up job! He introduced officers and working members of the host clubs as well as A.N.A. officers and working staff members, past presidents of the A.N.A. and their wives.

Everyone is always anxious for the presentation of awards made at the banquet. The highest awards are usually saved for the finale. How these are kept secret is a marvel.

Jack W. Ogilvie, A.N.A. historian was recipient of the Farran Zerbe award and received unanimous applause for excellent work. Fred R. Marckhoff was in another world as he received the Howland Wood award for best in show. This was a tough assignment for the judges to determine and all 7 judges gave this decision a great deal of thought and deliberation. The vote was 6 to 1 in favor.

The coveted fifty-year gold medal was presented to Ernest Jonas in absentia. Mrs. R. Henry Norwebb proudly received her medal as the audience saluted her with a standing ovation. Mrs. Norwebb has long been active in numismatics and her interests have won her the chairmanship of U. S. coins committee in the A.N.S.

Honorary life membership in the A.N.A. was bestowed upon Dr. Clain-Stefanelli and life membership on Mrs. Stefanelli.

The good fellow award is in recognition by the A.N.A. numismatic endeavors and accomplishments. This award was justly presented to Bob McNamara for his excellent leadership and coordination of details which made this a successful convention. Bob thanked his co-workers and family for their teamwork and said his family had spent the last few months nodding yes to his requests for service but he was sure that from now on those nods would be more vocal and his requests answered by "nodding doing"!

Ralph Cleaver put that old spark into auctioning off the number one bourse table for the Houston convention. He announced that the proceeds would go toward the A.N.A. building fund. Bidding started with $500.00 and rapidly climbed. Kenneth Nichols, acting for PNG, took the bid for $4000.00.

Sidney Watkins, who will soon be among the 25-year members acted as M.C. for the drawing of prizes. Ginny Snapp was the cute little gal who drew the winning numbers. Prize winners proudly toted their large boxes, which I am told contained a lovely set of numismatic glasses.

The banquet's official business ended, Sidney Watkins introduced the entertainers, Bob and Ginny, who sang songs from musical hits. Dancing followed.

Howard H. Buffett, a congressman from Omaha for 8 years, died April 29. A man of the highest integrity, he was concerned that the U. S. currency had lacked that quality since the suspension of domestic redemption March 6, 1933. As a consequence, he repeatedly introduced a bill to make the American dollar redeemable in gold at the standard rate of $35 a fine ounce. But, like some of his colleagues who made similar efforts, he was unsuccessful.

The average life of a coin struck in a popular nickel and copper alloy is estimated at 40 years, about forty times greater than that of a paper dollar bill.

Mr. and Mrs. John Morris, Jr.

And as I wrap up my little story and the convention is behind me, I announce to Glenn S. and the editor that I have finished my work. I am then told the story of the young soldier who was helping load a transport on its way back to the U. S. A. after the war. As the last man boarded the gang plank the young soldier announced to his sergeant, "Well sir, my work is done. I'm through. I signed up for the duration and the war is over. So long, buddy." To which the sergeant replied: "Pick up your gear, soldier, and get on that ship. The war may be over but the duration has just begun."

See you in Houston!

Dear Mr. Sherer:

Secretary Dillon has asked that I thank you for your letter of August 26 expressing the position of the American Numismatic Association with regard to the hoarding of coins.

We at the Treasury appreciate the views of your Association and we welcome your support and cooperation.

As you may know, the Treasury Department recently initiated a "crash" program designed to alleviate the coin shortage. I am enclosing for your information, a Treasury press release which gives the results for the month of August under the new program, and the Treasury's intentions regarding the continuation of the 1964 date on coins.

Sincerely,

Auctori Plebis — But With No Authority Whatsoever

By

ERIC P. NEWMAN, A.N.A. No. 4624

A modern die struck forgery of the Auctori Plebis token dated 1787 has recently appeared in London. This is another of the modern deceptive counterfeits made primarily to appeal to American collectors. It is hoped that a prompt publication of the differences between the genuine coin and the counterfeit will prevent the further sale and distribution of this fake.

The genuine coin is an English half-penny token, the designs, date, and legends of which were adapted from words of its legends AUCTORI: PLEBIS: and INDEP:ET:LIBER are even punctuated in the style used on the Connecticut issue. The reverse has a female figure seated on a chest, her hand on a globe, and an anchor leaning against the chest. There is a die break commonly found running from the seat of the female figure along the back of her left arm, through the top of her head to the top of the globe. The token is properly classified as an "evasion" halfpenny but is sometimes improperly referred to in America as belonging in the "bungtown" halfpence category.

The forgery is easily distinguishable from the genuine on the obverse because each petal of the two lowest cinquefoil ornaments is cut separately into the die whereas in the genuine a single cinquefoil punch was used.

The forgery is readily distinguishable from the genuine on the reverse because the shank of the anchor connects with the center of the bottom of the shackle at the top end of the anchor, whereas in the genuine piece the shank of the anchor does not connect with the shackle and lines up far to the left of the center of the shackle. In other words, the anchor on the false piece is properly assembled while on the genuine token it is erroneous. On the spurious coin the chest on which the female figure is sitting is a thin line outlined on the field whereas on the genuine it is composed of solid panels.

The forgery, generally, is very crude in its die cutting compared to the detail on the original, but since dies for original 18th century tokens of this type were normally not cut to produce sharp impressions, one might be induced to wonder if the forgery was from an unknown pair of genuine dies. However, the false piece is intended to be identical to the genuine piece and it can be noted that even the abnormal gap between C and T in AUCTORI is present in both. The dies for the forgery seem to have been produced by impact after which the design was substantially strengthened by hand engraving.

David Q. Bowers kindly furnished the specimen of the spurious piece illustrated. As the title to this article indicates a coin originally struck with the implied "authority of the people," has now been copied without any respect for the authority of numismatic decency.

REPORT OF THE LIBRARIAN

We thank the many publishers who sent material for the library display table at the Cleveland convention. This numismatic material was enjoyed by many members and visitors. SOCIETY OF MEDALISTS: 69TH ISSUE

The 69th issue of the Society of Medalists was designed by Robert A. Weinman and struck by the Medallic Art Co. Of his work, the artist says "It is my belief and hope that as we acquire the knowledge to exhume our hidden feelings, confront and understand them, we will not only liberate for constructive living the energy wasted in monitoring our destructive impulses, but also free all the good innate to us." This series of medals is available by subscription only from the Society of Medalists, Architectural League, 115 E. 40th St., New York, N. Y.

Third Report on A.N.A. Fund Drive

Progress and important developments are coming fast in A.N.A.'s drive to raise $250,000 for its national home and headquarters. Gifts are arriving daily at the executive secretary's office in Phoenix, with the honor roll growing rapidly as collectors, numismatists and coin clubs do their part in contributing to this big project for the advancement of numismatics.

As of September 20, receipts for contributions of cash and numismatic items to the building fund have been issued as follows:

EXHIBITS FROM OTHER COUNTRIES

There is no precedent with which to compare the exhibits sent from countries outside the United States for noncompetitive display at the recent Cleveland A.N.A. convention. Through the efforts of Dr. and Mrs. Clain-Stefanelli, curator and associate curator, respectively, of the division of numismatics at Smithsonian Institution, more than 80 cases of material were arranged in alphabetical sequence, by countries, and occupied two entire walls of the exhibit hall. This resulted in a great diversification of material which seemed preferable to a grouping according to traditional numismatic fields, such as coins, paper money, medals, etc. Several exhibits included items of more than one kind, so the latter arrangement would hardly have been possible.

Colorful cardboard backgrounds used in the exhibit cases proved ideal and made possible a uniform presentation of these displays of material from foreign countries. This first attempt at a truly international display at an A.N.A. convention may be deemed fully successful.

The Argentine mint contributed an extensive exhibit through the courtesy of Juan Carlos Azzarr, director general of the mint, and the embassy in Washington. The display featured coins and paper money of Argentina and included master hubs for the silver peso of 1881, its first national coin; the original model for the liberty head appearing on many of its coins; and also a wooden block for the 1,000 peso bank note, the first issue made at Buenos Aires (1889), as well as color proofs for projects for bank notes.

Through the deputy master of the royal mint in Australia we received examples of modern Australian coins. The Vienna mint made available, through its director, Dr. Ing L. Egartner, a series of its attractively designed modern coinages. The national numismatic collections of Belgium were represented by examples of coins struck in Belgium from ancient Roman times up to contemporary issues, made available through the interest of Miss J. Lallemand.

The Canadian branch of The International Nickel Company presented pure nickel coins through the courtesy of its representative Kenneth Henderson. They embraced 45 countries and consisted of 153 different issues, arranged by Henderson. The Bank of Canada contributed an historical display of paper moneys of the world, arranged in four cases according to historical and geographical criteria. The exhibit included, for instance, examples of French colonial card money, early English, Danish, Chinese, and other issues particularly remarkable historically. Among these were a 4 shilling note issued by General Gordon when besieged at Khartoum and a South African 2 shilling piece of 1900 issued by Baden-Powell when besieged at Mafeking. The displays were set up by Sheldon S. Carroll, curator of the bank's numismatic collection, and G. R. L. Potter, consultant. Master N. A. Parker of the Royal Canadian mint, contributed a trial impression of the recently approved official portrait of Queen Elizabeth II.

The central mint of China, through its director, Kan Yu-Chang, made available a tastefully arranged frame featuring current Chinese coins, giving indications regarding their issuance. Harold Salomon, royal mint engraver at Copenhagen, Denmark, was represented by coins and medals created by him. All these pieces were remarkable for their artistic and technical accomplishment, as well as for their contribution to modern Danish history.

The French mint was well represented due to the interest of Director P. Dehaye. Medals were grouped mainly according to historical themes. French medals and tokens referring to America were arranged in chronological order, starting with the period of Louis XIV in the 17th century up to the modern times of the Third Republic. Historical jetons of the French colonies in America formed another group, while contemporary French medals of American interest portraying Generals Eisenhower and Patton, scientists such as Einstein, and prominent literary figures like Hemingway, Steinbeck and Faulkner were on view also. A set of works issued by the French Club of the Medal, which reportedly have become popular in recent months in the United States also, were on display.

R. A. Joly, chief engraver of the Paris mint, showed examples of his work which included medals devoted to Debussy, Michelangelo, Leonardo da Vinci, and inspired pieces such as "The Philosopher" and "The Twentieth Century Man." The senior medalist of France, Henri Dropsy, was a contributor with works like "The Circus," "Learning" and "Science," as well as portraits of E. Manet, J. Callot and others.

The firm of Arthus-Bertrand, which has done so much for the better appreciation of the modern medal through its work for the International Federation of Medal Editors, selected a number of artistic medals designed by artists such as Belmondo, Lay and Guzman. It should be noted that all these medals were cast rather than struck.

The Albert Pick collection of the Bavarian Mortgage and Exchange Bank, which is probably the largest collection of its kind in the world, exhibited many items of unique interest. Actually there were three groups made available by Pick and the bank. One was a display of historical notes: On view, for instance, were a ten daler note of the Stockholms Banco (Sweden) dated 1666, one of the first European bank notes; a Finnish 20 kopeck note of 1819; a five mark note of 1874, the first of the German empire; and specimen printing of the 20 taler note of 1873, the first issue of the National Bank of Luxemburg. It would lead too far afield to mention all the rare early notes which should, in fact, be remarked on here. In addition to the general historical display, the Albert Pick collection showed two specialized aggregates of material which are truly unique in such completeness: One consisted of German prisoner-of-war tickets issued during the Second World War in the United States, while the other specialized collection featured emergency issues of Norway circulated during the German occupation in 1940-43. Many of the prisoner-of-war tickets and Norwegian emergency issues are, of course, unique.

Professor Alfons Feuerle was the only contributor of artistic medals from Germany. His work, however, is remarkable; for instance, "Bonovil's Mule." Giesecke and Devrient, the large security printing firm of Munich, displayed select examples of documents of value executed by this firm.

The London royal mint made available, through D. W. Greenhalgh, splendid examples in proof of its coinages for the United Kingdom and for foreign countries. Paul Vincze, the well known London medalist, was able to attend the convention personally and showed original models for his Shakespeare medal, as well as other examples of his accomplished artistry.

Professor Dimitri Ferentinos of Athens, Greece, showed a number of medals, entitled "Pessimism," "Prayer," "The Golden Curias," and others, all excellent examples of abstract medallion art. His was certainly an enlightening exhibit of some of the modern trends in medallion art. The Bank of Guatemala contributed examples of current coins and paper currencies.

From Israel came remarkable displays. Mrs. Esther Reifenberg of the Hebrew University made available, through the assistance of Mordecai Avida of the Ministry for Foreign Affairs and the embassy in Washington, the entire collection of her late husband. This is the most complete collection of its kind, and even contains two examples of the Persian period (fourth century B.C.), a silver bequa or half shekel, and a silver coin with the inscription "Yehud." The collection will be shown in November at the Smithsonian Institution, and upon its return to Israel we understand it will go on exhibit at the new national museum to be opened in Jerusalem.

Mr. Arie Kindler, Director of the Kadman numismatic museum in Tel Aviv, contributed a small but instructive exhibition, complementing the Reifenberg collection, which consisted of Palestinian city coins. Most educational was the historical introduction supplied by Dr. Kindler. The Israel Government Coins and Medals Corporation displayed a selection of modern coins with instructive background material showing the roots of modern coin design in its ancient counterparts.

From Italy came a great many displays, among them in the field of paper currencies a contribution from Dr. Gastone Sollner with a complete set issued in Piemonte (Northern Italy) in 1799 and other Italian currencies. Dr. Sollner is author of references on Italian paper monies. Professor Francesco Giannone, director of the School of the Art of the Medal at the Rome mint, showed some striking examples of his work. He is sometimes referred to as the Renoir of medallion art, because of his accomplished use of patination to support the relief of his pieces.

Giuseppe Romagnoli showed examples of his work on the Italian coinage, as well as on medals. Examples of medalic work by Mario Baiardi, professor with Giannone at the School of Medalic Art, showed a selection of his work. Guido Veroi displayed striking examples of his work, such as the "Visit of Pope Paul VI to the Holy Land" and another commemorating his meeting with Patriarch Athenagoras. Veroi is an engraver at the Rome mint. Luciano Mercante showed various examples of his works, among them a surrealistic and a cubistic portrait. Renato Signorini showed several of his graceful works.

Medals done by Miss Elizabeth Jones, a native of Montclair, N. J., and a graduate of Vassar College who enrolled at the School of the Art of the Medal and frequented courses for two years under the guidance of Professors Giannone and Baiardi, were shown for the first time in the United States. They were very well received by the many visitors.

It should be noted that most of the Italian medalists mentioned are members of the Italian Association of Friends of the Medal, an organization which is very active in promoting the artistic cast medal.

Pietro Giampaoli, former chief engraver at the Rome mint, showed some remarkable examples of his work. Done mostly in the style of the Renaissance, they are splendidly patinated and show a rare degree of excellence. In addition to portraits of Pope John XXIII, Pope Paul VI, and Queen Elizabeth II, should be mentioned that of his wife, Laetitia Savonitto, which appeared on the 500 lire of 1958.

Paladino Orlandini, noted Roman medalist, is another name that should be mentioned, particularly noting his medal entitled "Waiting." The so very active house of Gori & Zucchi of Arezzo sent a selection of their medals created by well known artists and struck by their company. The Lorioli brothers of Milan contributed select examples of medals done by their establishment, among them the works of G. Pirrone, E. Boninsegni and C. Affer.

Last, but by no means least, we must mention the splendid display of medals produced by the old establishment of Stefano Johnson of Milan. Accomplished in their technical excellence, they presented many themes and were done by a score of outstanding medalists of which we are able to cite just a few: Enrico Manfrini, Emilio Testa, Davide Calandra and Emilio Monti. This display greatly complemented the exhibits and certainly formed a significant contribution to the better understanding of modern medalic art.

Y. Yamaga of Tokyo showed his country's orders and decorations appearing in a rare Japanese publication. The series of portraits on modern Mexican coins were on view through the courtesy of the Mexico City mint and Ing. Carlos T. Martinez. The Bank of New Zealand presented modern coins and documents of value, through the interest of its chief accountant, V. L. Ansell.

Of uncommon interest was Dr. Leo Mildenberg's showing of small masterworks of ancient Greek coin engravings from the 6th through the 4th century B.C. Masterpieces from Naxos and Syracuse, Sicily; Rhegium, South Italy; Tanagra, Boeotia; Celendris and Tarsus, Cilicia; Stymphalos, Peloponnesus; and from many other cities were shown. Enlarged photographs conveyed to the viewer in a striking manner the outstanding accomplishments of ancient Greek coin engravers. We are indeed grateful to Dr. Mildenberg for making this exhibit possible.

The South African mint, through the courtesy of Director A. J. Malan, sent examples of its current coinages. The mint master of the royal mint in Bangkok, M. R. Prasomsak Charoonroj, contributed a display of rare coins of the period of Dwaravati, Suko-Tai and Ayudhya, received through the assistance of the Thai embassy. The attributions of these very rare pieces as well as the historical notes provided by the mint were noted with interest.

Individually, the exhibits in this array were, for the most part, magnificent works of art one would seldom see in a single hall; viewed collectively, they illustrated convincingly the truly international aspect of numismatics.

Although the U. S. five cent coin contains 75 per cent copper and only 25 per cent nickel, it receives its white color from the latter metal and is commonly referred to as a "nickel."

THE OTHER SIDE OF THE COIN

In the September 9 issue of Coin World, its management published an editorial under the heading "Thirty-Two If's, Or Is The Cart Before The Horse." The officers of the American Numismatic Association believe that the coin has two sides but, upon careful consideration of the 32 If's, have come to the conclusion that the two sides are surprisingly similar. In some cases the two sides are at variance, but the overall pictures are not. The two Coin World executives who signed "personalized" form letters transmitting printed advance copies of the editorial to A.N.A. officers are members of the Association and it is to them that this reply is directed.

These letters professed friendliness and respect for the individual officers of A.N.A., yet they gave one the feeling of reading a letter from a righteous father to his wayward son. The letters state that the pages of Coin World "are always available to you to assist in any and every way to bring about a better A.N.A." Yet the published editorial seemed to be an ultimatum to the effect that A.N.A. must conform to Coin World's concepts of a better A.N.A. or be deprived of its support.

In presenting the other side of the coin, the officers of A.N.A. accept Coin World's apology IF its executives can take our word and the evidence in the October and November issues of The Numismatist that some of their proposals were indeed being implemented even before the A.N.A. officials received the advance copies of the editorial. Otherwise we can assume only that the entire editorial was sensationalism intended to mislead those who do not take time to sift the chaff from the grain.

While we hope that the writers of the editorial meant well, and surely did not intend to damage A.N.A., we cannot understand their method or timing in censuring the board. Since their complaints and criticisms obviously did not materialize suddenly, why did they not ask to be heard by the board while it was in session at the Cleveland convention? Failing this less melodramatic method of communication, why did they not wait for the board to announce its actions in the first possible issue of The Numismatist? Surely they realize that the operation of a nonprofit fraternal organization is vastly different from that of a commercial newspaper business!

Some of Coin World's If's are explicit enough to be understood, studied and considered for action. Others are merely impressively written but meaningless phrases. The Association is a democratic organization whose officers welcome the participation and constructive recommendations of its members, but which cannot operate and make decisions like a privately owned business. Perhaps the Association, including its officers and members, should strive even harder to represent, help and lead numismatists and serious collectors. We will continue to heed concrete and specific suggestions intended to better the Association, to make its operation more efficient and effective in helping those who are attracted to coin collecting as a hobby.

We hope to retain the good will and coöperation of all numismatic publications. The A.N.A. has served the hobby of numismatics for nearly three-quarters of a century. Never before has the Association or its officers been subjected to such sweeping censure by the press. Yet we believe that Coin World has a place and fills a need as a news media in the field of coin collecting as it is constituted today.

The officers of A.N.A. have always worked for the best interests of the Association and, despite censure, will continue to do so. With or without the blessing of some of those in other spheres, we shall continue to try to fulfill our purpose as we see it.

BIRTHDAY GREETINGS to Francis Joseph Holthaus of Seneca, Kans. who was born November 16th. His A.N.A. number is 834 and he has been a continuous member since November, 1906. Happy double birthday wishes from the A.N.A. to this retired banker and still active coin collector.

NOTES & QUERIES

Hall of Fame Committee

Louis S. Werner, sergeant at arms of 25 A.N.A. conventions and a well known and respected professional numismatist of New York City, has been named a member of the A.N.A. Hall of Fame committee by Chairman Jack W. Ogilvie. Governor Ralph F. Cleaver will act as board representative on the committee. Both men aided the historian with the ground work that was necessary to bring the idea to the attention of President Anderson. After discussion at the board meeting at the Cleveland convention, the committee was authorized to draft principles and rules and submit them to the board for further action.

Offer to State and Regional Organizations

From time to time the A.N.A. releases information to other numismatic publications for their use. Such releases concern official actions of the Association, plans for and progress of its activities, and more general information of interest to its members and others in the hobby. They do not include technical articles relative to numismatic items, fields of collecting, prices or commercial activities. These releases have been used by several numismatic publications, including two in Canada, since about July 1 of this year.

It has been decided to extend this service to those state and regional numismatic organizations which are A.N.A. members, and which issue some form of publication to their members. There will be no charge for this service, nor will the organizations assume any obligation or responsibility in accepting it. The releases are not copyrighted and so may be published in full or in essence without formal acknowledgement, although the source should be indicated informally. Any such publication will be put on the mailing list for these releases if it will make a request to the A.N.A. public relations officer, Glenn B. Smedley, 1127 Washington Blvd., Oak Park, Ill. 60302. The request should state the name and A.N.A. membership number of the organization, name of the publication, frequency of its issue, deadline for receipt of material, and the name and mailing address of the editor. A copy of any issue of the publications using any of the released material will be appreciated by the public relations officer.

First MOON Convention

Members of Minnesota Organization of Numismatists will hold their first convention at the new Capp-Towers Hotel-Motel in Minneapolis on November 6-8. This is looked upon by the up and coming young organization as another step forward in what is expected to be a long and useful career. Many dealers and exhibitors have reserved space, and it is expected that thousands of enthusiastic collectors will attend. General Chairman Gail Wilkerson may be contacted at Route 1, Anoka, Minn.

MOON was organized in October, 1962, and its first actual gathering was at an Austin coin show in the fall of 1963. Its membership includes collectors of Minnesota, Wisconsin and Canada principally. Others interested in joining may contact Mrs. Rita Janecke, secretary, 4225 Bryant South, Minneapolis, Minn. 55409.

Publications Merged

Under arrangements made between Cab Atkins, publisher of Cab's Coin Collector, and H. D. Mackey, publisher of The Silver Dollar Digest, the two publications were merged effective with the October issue of the former. A special section of Cab's Coin Collector will be devoted to featuring news and advertising related to the silver dollar field of collecting. Subscription obligations of the Digest are being assumed by Atkins, whose address is P. O. Box 162, Centralia, Mo.

NASC Money Museum

The Numismatic Association of Southern California proudly announces that the first step has been taken in establishing a money museum. This project is the brain child of NASC President Karl Brainard, and has as its sole object the display of all kinds of coins and other objects used as mediums of exchange. It is a non-profit venture for imparting numismatic knowledge to collectors and noncollectors alike.

Mrs. Thelma M. Case is the temporary custodian and will be happy to receive any numismatic item which a collector wants to donate to the museum. One of the first items of note for the museum came from Oscar G. Schilke of Niantic, Conn. in the form of a rare and valuable Chinese one kwan note, printed on heavy grey paper made from mulberry bark. The 8½" by 13" note, believed to have been printed about 1375 A.D., reads, in part, "To Be Current Under The Heavens" and "Counterfeiters Shall Be Decapitated."

Karl Brainard turning over to temporary custodian Thelma Case the one kwan note presented to the NASC money museum by Oscar G. Schilke. This rare note is believed to have been printed in China circa 1375 A.D.

The ultimate goal set by NASC is to have one of the finest money museums in the country, and it will welcome and acknowledge donations of money or numismatic items sent to Mrs. Case at 2308 32nd St., Santa Monica, Calif. 90405.

Penn-Ohio Auction Highlights

An array of nearly 350 U. S. gold coins featured the Penn-Ohio Coin Clubs' fall convention auction at the Webster Hall Hotel in Pittsburgh on Sept. 18-20. Consisting of 1400 lots, the sale was handled by Michael R. Kolman, president of Federal Brand Enterprises of Cleveland, Ohio.

Gold coins included regular issue, as well as some choice commemoratives. Top price realized was $2,300 for the 1903 gem proof double eagle, a coin with a mintage of only 158. Among the gold commemoratives, the 1904 and 1905 Lewis and Clark Exposition dollars went for $380 each. The 1922 Grant Memorial dollars realized $310 with star and $360 without star.

The sale offered a good variety of paper money, both legal tender and obsolete bank notes. The $5 demand note of New York, Friedberg No. 1 in good to very good, brought $205, and the 1861 $10 demand note, Fr. No. 6 in very good, payable at New York, sold for $345. There were a number of gold notes, which recent treasury rulings have brought out of hiding. A $20, series of 1882, Fr. No. 1178 with portrait of President Garfield, brought $225 in crisp new condition. A similarly choice $100, series of 1922, Fr. 1215 with portrait of Thomas Benton, fetched $275.

Considerable action was seen in the foreign coin section. A Bavarian taler of 1827 with head of Louis I, uncirculated, brought $32.50. A double thick Bavarian taler of 1837, with the same royal portrait, went for $25. Prices realized lists of this sale are available at $1.00 each from Federal Brand Enterprises, Inc., 419-25 High Ave., Cleveland, Ohio 44115.

GENA December Convention

For the coin and stamp collector, Bob Gregor announces the opening of Kansas City's "largest and most complete coin and stamp center." Located in the Brookside-Waldo area, the 3,000 square foot store boasts a bank-type vault, private offices, and over 100 feet of display counters for collectors. Gregor has expanded his staff to include Bob Wilson, formerly of Enid, Okla., Lloyd Schaeffer, formerly of Wichita, Kans. and Jess Kirby, formerly of Oklahoma City.

Karl M. Meghrig is retiring from active direction of the western division of M. Meghrig & Sons, distributors of numismatic and philatelic supplies. Director of the concern's west coast operation since soon after the end of World War II, he will turn over management of the Los Angeles offices to his brother, Garo N. Meghrig, formerly of the New York offices but associated with the western division since mid-June. Harold M. Meghrig will continue direction of the New York office.

Elmer F. Hansen has announced the leasing of an office at 510 Pennsylvania Ave., Fort Washington, Penna., to Bernard and Bruce Gimelson, coin investment consultants. The Gimelsons, who formerly had offices in Philadelphia, deal in rare coins, stamps, covers, autographs, etc. The new office is equipped with a nationwide teletype service for the benefit of collectors throughout the area. Gimelson is life member No. 347 of A.N.A., and a member of several regional organizations.

William Fox Steinberg, formerly of 570 Fifth Ave., N.Y., has moved to Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., where he will

"Whale" Money

Subsequent to an article on "whale" tokens in the New York Herald Tribune of August 14, the following letter was received by the distributor from the Treasury Department:

"The relevant statutory provisions are sections 336, 486, and 491 of Title 18 of the United States Code. Section

Whale money 4 bits.

336 prohibits the making, issuing, or circulating of various types of tokens or obligations for a less sum than $1.00, 'intended to circulate as money

Whale money 2 bits.

or to be received or used in lieu of lawful money of the United States.' Section 486 prohibits the passing of coins of metal or alloys of metal, 'intended for use as current money,' regardless of the design of the coin. Section 491 prohibits anyone 18 years of age or over from making, issuing, or passing any coin, card, token, or device in metal or its compounds, 'intended to be used as money.'

"You will notice from the above that the statutory criterion is whether a particular object is intended to be used as money. In determining whether something is intended for use as money, it is necessary to ascertain such things as its intended use, whether it purports to be redeemable in cash or only in trade, if redeemable only in trade, the number of business establishments at which it may be redeemed, etc. A token or obligation which is redeemable only in trade and only at a single establishment, and for which change in lawful money is not given, is not, as a general rule, in violation of these statutes. If, however, there is any element of being redeemable wholly or partially in cash, or of being used in lieu of cash at a significant number of business establishments, or if in fact it may be used for widespread purchases of goods or services, there may be a violation of these statutes.

"Since the whale tokens distributed in Nantucket, Mass., were circulating as money, they were found to be in violation of the statutes cited above.

"We appreciate your courtesy in consulting us in this matter." — Roy T. ENGLERT, assistant general counsel

NCNA Third Exhibition

The third annual international coin and currency exhibition of the Northern California Numismatic Associ-

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Lawrence of South Africa displayed bank notes of that country and won first place in foreign paper money.

ation, held September 10-13 at the Jack Tar hotel in San Francisco, was a successful numismatic event. It gave all coin collectors in the California area, and visitors from throughout the United States, a true feeling of world understanding through numismatics.

Kathy Muller, NCNA public relations director, and Don Thompson, auctioneer, were guests on the Dick Stewart TV Show, speaking on numismatics for one-half hour.

This year's exhibition honored the Republic of China, and the "silver coinage of the Republic of China" was sent from the Central Bank of China, Taipei, Taiwan, for display throughout the show. Hon. Yin-shou Chen, consul general, officiated at the opening ceremonies and made a special "best Chinese theme" award, consisting of a presentation folder of coins and currency specially struck at the Central Bank of China, to W. O. Hutt for his display of Chinese currency.

There were 43 competitive exhibits in all, displayed in over 100 cases. They included the best numismatic material and knowledge in the California area, and each person who won one of the 30 awards felt confident that it was well earned. Ernest A. Meyer won best in show for his outstanding display featuring United States and foreign mint errors. The trophy depicted the "forty-niner," emblem of the NCNA and a fitting commemorative trophy. Jimmie Lawrence of South Africa, President of the International Bank Note Society, displayed 9 cases of bank notes of South Africa, the notes being considered museum pieces there.

Executive Secretary Don Shearer of the American Numismatic Association stated he was "extremely impressed by all of the hard working people in Northern California, and particularly with the exceptional quality of the third annual international coin and currency exhibition." A check in the amount of $100 was presented to the A.N.A. for its building fund, in the belief this headquarters will benefit and further numismatics throughout the United States and, for that matter, the world over.

The auction was conducted by Reno Coin Galleries. Auctioneers Don Thompson and C. C. Ballard stated that the response was completely overwhelming. Many record prices were realized, with floor bids prevailing. Particular interest was shown in Morgan and Peace design silver dollars.

A new officer was created at the board meeting, designated director of public relations. This officer is to act as spokesman for the NCNA and to arbitrate problems that may arise within the organization and the member clubs. Officers for the year 1965 were elected, as follows: President Milton C. Strauch; Vice President Everett K. Higgins; Secretary Lillian Hooker; Treasurer Roy Hill; Director of Public Relations Kathy Muller; and Board Members John D. Sears, past president, Denis N. Hooker, Leo Smith, Paul Snedaker, Don Thompson, Cliff Liss, Bob Adcock, Aldo P. Basso and Rudy Gjurovich.

Working under the direction of President John D. Sears, chairmen for the successful exhibition included Aldo P. Basso, bourse, Col. Everett K. Higgins, theme, Kathy Muller, publicity, and Frances Smith, registration.

Applications for Bourse Space Ready

Governor George M. Todd, chairman of the bourse rules committee, and Houston convention General Chairman A. I. Martin announce that forms are ready for those who wish to apply for bourse space at the 1965 A.N.A. convention. These new forms were drafted by a committee headed by Todd, working in cooperation with other A.N.A. officials and convention chairmen. They were devised to form a basis for improving upon the methods used in the past for selecting dealers for the limited number of bourse tables available at our annual conventions.

Since block booking has been discontinued by the Association, it is necessary that each dealer wanting a bourse table at the 1965 Houston convention file one of these applications. Deadline for receipt of applications is January 15, 1965. They may be obtained from A. I. Martin, 6207 Chevy Chase Dr., Houston, Texas 77027.

"We want all dealers to have an equal opportunity and unbiased consideration for bourse space," Todd said. "We also want well qualified and reputable dealers who not only sell coins but work for the betterment of A.N.A. and the advancement of numismatics."

Remember, dealers, your applications for bourse space at the Houston convention must be filed by January 15, 1965.

THE JESSE JAMES DIME. Jesse James, abed for the night, care for his horse, and a dime, bring back memories to my old friend, James Douglas Creason. When Creason was at the age of 7, (he is now 90 years old), Jesse James rode on horseback to his dad's farm, some 8 miles east of Lathrop, Mo. He asked for a bed for the night, and his horse cared for. James Creason got out of bed and put the horse in his dad's barn. Jesse James slept in the boy's bed, and of course, Jim had to sleep on the floor. Next morning Jesse James gave the youngster a dime, dated 1836, which has been his most treasured possession from that day until this.

Jesse James was killed the year following this unforgettable night, and the old dime serves as a constant reminder of this famous gunman. Many an old coin has an interesting true story. This is one of them. — HARRY BOSLEY, A.N.A. No. 26180

THE LURE OF AFRICAN NOTE COLLECTING

By

JOHN E. SANDROCK, A.N.A. No. 30007

I CAN think of no group of bank notes that collectively appeal more to the eye than the notes originating on the African continent. Just as darkest Africa once held a powerful attraction for the adventurer and explorer, so do her notes hold an irresistible attraction for a large section of our collecting fraternity. The reason for this appeal is varied.

Few notes can rival the various issues of the African countries, past and present, in beauty of design and boldness of color.

The scenes depicted on African notes, unlike the industrialized countries of Europe and Asia, show more primitive pastimes and agrarian scenes. The wild animals in which Africa abounds come to life on her paper currency. An hour spent looking through a collection of these colorful notes is akin to taking an armchair ride through the zoo.

History is being recorded on these notes, too. Year by year more colonies of the great European powers gain their independence, and try their hand at self government. The passing colonial rule has seen the former colonies of Germany, Britain, France, Italy, Spain, and Belgium swept aside. New names such as Ghana, Republic of Guinea, and Mali have taken the place of the old Gold Coast, French Guinea, and the Sudan of postage stamp album fame.

This coming of age of African nations reached a peak in 1960 when 17 new countries emerged. A good many of these new nations, despite their official issuance of postage stamps and currency, remain an illusion. Some probably never will develop an economy worthy of being dignified by an issue of bank notes and others probably will disappear without leaving a mark on the numismatic sands of time.

Prior to 1957 there were but four independent countries in all of Africa — Egypt, Ethiopia, Liberia, and the Union of South Africa. One of these — Liberia — has no currency system of its own, using the United States dollar in all its monetary transactions except small change, which is issued by the Liberian treasury.

Lest the beginning collector be led to think all in Africa is new, he would better be introduced to those once flourishing countries, now gone, known as the Transvaal, Orange Free State, Cape of Good Hope colony, and such romantic sounding places as Rif, Fezzan, and Nieuw Griqualand. Africa is not without its rarities. The aforementioned places will offer a challenge to the most ardent collector. Another hard to find country is Zanzibar, whose government regularly issued currency from 1908 to 1935.

A Glimpse Into the Past

Now let us take a tour around Africa to see if we can catch the lure of this mystic continent from her bank notes. We will start with Morocco, in Africa's northwesternmost corner.

The notes of Morocco, together with those of Algeria and Tunisia, are striking in two respects. First, and naturally, they impart a strong Arabic flair. Second, they disclose the century-old French political and economic domination of this part of Africa. One becomes imbued with the mystery of the Arab world when he loses himself in the scenes of Moorish archways, medinas, and bazaars which adorn the bank notes of Morocco, Algeria, and Tunisia. The ancient sultanate of Rabat appears repeatedly on Moroccan currency. The Tower of Hassan is featured on the 20 franc note of 1941 and the 1,000 franc note of 1952, while the sultan's palace is shown on the 100 franc note of the same issue.

More recently the white walls and houses of Rabat are shown in the background behind the portrait of Mohammed V on the current 5 dirham note. Most impressive are the crumbling walls of Marrakech, shown on the reverse of the 100 franc note of 1952. A bird's-eye view of Morocco would not be complete without a scene from one of the typically lush and fragrant gardens which abound there. Such a picture can be gathered from the Banque d'Etat du Maroc 500 franc note of 1956. One can almost smell the heavy fragrance of the bougainvillea and oleander that grow there.

Moving on to Algeria we find depicted on the currency, an abundance of veiled native women, some carrying baskets of fruit. A farm couple in fez and veil survey their rocky acres, along with the ruins of a Roman coliseum which appear on the 500 franc issue of 1941. A yoke of oxen plow a field on the reverse of the 100 franc note of the same issue.

Tunisia until recently used notes of the Banque de L'Algerie overprinted TUNISIE as her only currency. Since independence Tunisia has formed a central bank of its own — The Banque Centrale de Tunisie. The one-half dinar note is typical, bearing the bust of President Bourguiba and a view of crumbling Roman ruins on the reverse. A Phœnician ship is displayed prominently on the Tunisian arms, bringing to mind the one-time monopoly of Mediterranean commerce and the glories of a civilization long dead.

Moving eastward across North Africa we come to Libya. Here, unlike the former French colonies of Morocco, Algeria, and Tunisia, we find no trace of the influence of former European colonization. Italy never issued a separate series of notes for Libya, using current Italian currency, identifying her colonial issues by a special border design. Present day Libyan currency abounds in scenes from the Roman colonies of Leptus Magnus and Leptus Minor, which once flourished on her shores. The 5 and 10 piastre and one-quarter pound notes are examples. Libya has good reason to promote these ruins on her currency, since much of her tourist income is derived from them. Completing the impression of Libya are date palms and portraits of King Idris I, the country's first monarch.

Mystery of the Sphinx

Moving eastward we come to the land of the Pharaohs. As might be expected, Egyptian currency reflects

Italy's former influence in Somalia is clearly seen in the Somalian 5 somali note shown here. The somali monetary unit has since been replaced by the scellini which made its appearance in 1962. Under treaty arrangements Somalia's finances were controlled from Rome under authority of the Cassa per la Circolazione Monetaria della Somalia. This agency has been replaced by Somalia's own Banca Nazionale Somalia. Approximate size 5" x 2 7/8".

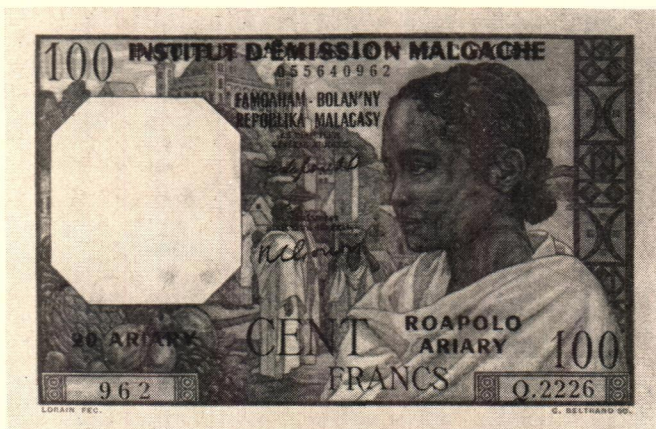

the ancient civilization of the Pharaohs. The great sphinx of Thebes, symbolizing ancient Egypt, appears on the National Bank of Egypt's 10 pound note. There is an interesting myth concerning this great monument which is worth mentioning here.

The sphinx of Thebes was a monster with the body of a lion, wings of a bird, and the head of a woman. She proposed a riddle to all passers-by, so the myth goes, and upon their failure to guess it, she destroyed them. Eventually a traveler named Oedipus guessed the riddle, whereupon the sphinx slew herself and Oedipus became king of Thebes. The riddle: What creature walks in the morning upon four feet, at noon upon two, and at evening upon three? The answer: Man, as a baby on hands and knees; later on his feet, and at old age with a staff.

Other features gracing Egyptian currency include the pyramids, papyrus plants, and the Nile. The Egyptian currency notes in minor denominations of piastres contain more political vignettes. Typical of these are groups of soldiers and workers, hydro-electric power dams — and formerly, portraits of King Farouk. An interesting substitution of the United Arab republic flag for that of Egypt took place on the 10 piastre note issued under law No. 50 of 1940.

Turning south to the Sudan we still feel the presence of Arabic culture in

This first issue of the newly formed Malagasy Republic, formerly Madagascar, utilizes the overprint of the Institut d'Emission Malgache over a previous issue of the Banque de Madagascar et des Comores. Africa. Sudanese bank notes were issued for the first time after Britain and Egypt relinquished their claims to this territory. The issuing authority is the Sudan currency board. The 25 piastre note of 1956 is an attractive issue depicting a squad of Sudanese troops on the obverse and a desert rider mounted on his camel on the reverse.

Of all the countries of Africa, Ethiopia, on the Red sea, has enjoyed the longest period of self government. Except for two brief periods of Italian control (1885-1889 and 1935-1941) Ethiopia for centuries has been ruled as a kingdom. The present potentate is Emperor Haile Selassie, who claims direct descent from the Queen of Sheba. His official title is his imperial majesty, Hailie Selassie, emperor of Ethiopia, king of kings, elect of God, and conquering Lion of Judah. Ethiopian dollar currency displays his portrait on the obverse, with the Lion of Judah on the reverse. The older Security Banknote Company State Bank of Ethiopia dollar note also depicts an Ethiopian farmer plowing behind a team of oxen. The newer Bradbury Wilkinson Company issue shows the coffee tree, representing an industry particularly suited to the hilly country, which is being vigorously developed today.

Generally overlooked by most collectors is the small Red sea colony of Djibouti, otherwise known as French Somaliland. This territory remains the last French colony in Africa. Its notes are particularly beautiful. Earlier issues were emitted under the Banque de L'Indochine with the colonial name DJIBOUTI placed somewhere in the design — a strange paradox for a bank whose home offices were so far away! One 10 franc issue of this bank shows a native and colorful camel caravan. More recently Djibouti notes have been emitted under the name Cote Francaise des Somalis. These notes feature camels and the Arab dhow, a trading vessel which plies the coasts of the Red sea.

Continuing around the horn of Africa we travel down the coast of the Somali Republic. This new nation comprises the former colonies of Italian Somaliland and British Somaliland. It is an extremely backward area, kept that way to a large extent by a scarcity of rainfall, measuring only one or two inches annually. Somalia's monetary standard is the somali. All fiscal matters, including the issuance of bank notes and coins, are the responsibility of the Cassa per la Circolazione Moneteria della Somalia, located in Rome. The 5 somali note of 1951, bearing a picture of a tigress, is a beautiful example of their work.

The Indian Ocean Islands

Although not a part of Africa proper, the Indian ocean offshore islands of the Seychelles group must be considered as African for collecting purposes. Notes for the Seychelles are issued by the government of Seychelles and bear the likeness of Queen Elizabeth II. The Seychelles arms consist of a palm tree and sea turtle design testifying to the large population of giant turtles which inhabit the warm waters of this area.

Penetrating deep into tropical Africa we enter the British territories of Kenya, Uganda, and Tanganyika. Together with Somaliland, Aden, and Zanzibar, these countries make up British East Africa. One uniform issue of notes under authority of the East African currency board serves all these places. None except Zanzibar has issued its own currency, unless you take into account that Tanganyika once was ruled by Germany as German East Africa and issued its own notes under the authority of the Deutsch Ostafrikanische Bank. By 1890 most of Africa had been divided among the major European powers. However, some political maneuvers were still going on. In one such deal, Germany sought the island of Zanzibar and all of Uganda. The sultan of Zanzibar sold his mainland possessions to Germany and Britain. Germany foreswore her claims to the remainder of Zanzibar and Uganda in return for which England gave Germany the island of Helgoland in the North sea — much to her later regret. Notes of the East African currency board circulate in denominations of 10 and 20 shillings. A note of 5 shillings, formerly employed, was replaced by a coin. These notes bear the likeness of the reigning monarch. On the reverse is a powerful lion, the symbol of the British East African possessions. The text appears in Arabic as well as in English.

Moving southward our next stop is the Portuguese colony of Mozambique. The Portuguese were among the first to explore Africa and are the last of the European powers to relinquish their colonial empire. Portuguese expeditions to Africa began as early as 1415. By 1441 the west coast of Africa had been explored as far south as Cape Blanc. Within 15 years Cape Verde had been passed. The year 1470 saw the crossing of the equator, and by 1482 the Portuguese were at the mouth of the Congo. The Cape of Good Hope had been rounded by Bartholomew Diaz in 1482, ten years before Columbus discovered America. Before the century ended the explorers had worked their way up the east coast of Africa and ultimately — with the voyage of Vasco de Gama — all the way to India. It was not long before the Arabs and Swahilis of the African east coast had been subjugated and the area settled.

The name Lourenco Marques — after the capital city — was given early to this country but eventually was replaced with the present Mozambique. It was not until after World War I that the latter name appeared on the colony's currency. All bank note issues are of the Banco Nacional Ultramarino and bear the familiar seal of this bank, together with the Portuguese arms. All notes are issued for the colony and dated at Lisbon. The engraving of Mozambique currency customarily has been that of Bradbury, Wilkinson & Company of London.

Spans Nearly Three Centuries

One of the largest of the world's islands is Madagascar, which lies 250 miles off the coast of Mozambique. This island until recently was a French possession. Independence was gained in 1960, at which time the name of the island was changed from Madagascar to the Malagasy republic. Thus ended a long period of prosperous French rule which began with the annexation of the island by Louis XIV in 1686. Madagascar bank notes are very colorful and typically French in style. The older Banque de Madagascar recently gave way to the Banque de Madagascar et des Comores, the Comoro Islands having come under Madagascar jurisdiction. Notes currently are issued in denominations of 5, 10, 20, 50, 100, 500, 1,000, and 5,000 francs. The 100 franc note of the Banque de Madagascar et des Comores is typically beautiful, showing on the obverse a native girl in a market place and on the reverse a native youth with water buffalo and sailing craft.

Although not strictly African, the Indian ocean islands of Mauritius and La Reunion must also be considered African for collecting purposes. Both islands lie east of Madagascar. Mauritius belongs to Britain while La Reunion is French. The currency of Mauritius is exceptionally beautiful. The government presently issues notes bearing the likeness of the reigning British monarch in denominations of 1, 5, 10, and 25 rupees. The bank notes of Reunion formerly were issued by the Banque de la Reunion but now conform to the general issue of the Caisse Centrale de la France d'Outre Mer for overseas colonies. These notes bear the LA REUNION overprint in their borders. A 5,000 franc note exists, issued by the Institut d'Emission des Departements d'Outre Mer.

Returning to the mainland we find ourselves in the complex of colonies which are British or formerly British. The first of these is the Federation of Rhodesia and Nyasaland. This area comprises the former colonies of Northern Rhodesia, Southern Rhodesia, and Nyasaland. Southern Rhodesia formerly issued her own currency under an act of 1938 which created the Southern Rhodesia currency board. All of these notes are quite scarce. The current bank notes of Rhodesia and Nyasaland bear the portrait of Queen Elizabeth II on their obverse. The 1 pound note depicts the ruins of Zimbabwe — an intriguing archeological mystery. For centuries it was believed the Africans had built nothing of any kind in any material more durable than mud, poles, and thatch. Zimbabwe is a complex of granite structures executed by remarkably skillful stonemasons. The ruin depicted on the 1 pound note is that of a palace or temple 300 feet long by 220 feet wide. Its walls are 30 feet high and 20 feet thick. Some of the ruins at Zimbabwe may date to the 6th or 7th century A.D. Who these early people were, and what happened to destroy their culture, are matters for speculation and may remain a mystery forever.

Colonized By the Boers

The southernmost region of Africa is known as the Republic of South Africa, formerly the Union of South Africa. This country was settled by the Dutch, or Boers, who established the Cape of Good Hope colony in 1657 to have a base from which to supply the ships of the Dutch East India Company en route to the Spice Islands. In 1814 the British obtained possession of the Cape of Good Hope. The Boers, in discontent, sought new lands free from interference. After a mass migration known as the Great

Trek, they established the Orange Free State in honor of the Prince of Orange of Holland. The South African Republic (Transvaal) was formed in 1856 and experienced a fast moving history until its demise at the conclusion of the Boer war (1899-1902) at which time British sovereignty was re-established. During this period a new country was established (1854) in the diamond region along the Orange river. This country was named Nieuw Griqualand. It was an ill-fated attempt at establishing all Negro rule over their own territory. The region was annexed by the British in 1871 but not until Nieuw Griqualand had emitted a bank note in 1867. The Cape of Good Hope issued notes from 1782-1814, the Orange Free State from 1868-1892, and the Transvaal from 1865-1902. The Republic of South Africa recently (1961) abandoned the British pound/shillings/pence system in favor of the decimal system. She chose as her new monetary unit the rand. The central bank is the Suid-Afrikaanse Reserwebank. The current 1 rand note carries a portrait of Jan van Riebeeck, founder of the Cape of Good Hope colony.

Presently administered as a mandate by the Republic of South Africa is Southwest Africa, the former German Southwest Africa. A German issue of notes made their appearance in 1914. Southwest African monetary affairs are handled by three banks with offices in the capital of Windhoek. These banks are Barclays Bank, the Standard Bank of South Africa, and the Volkskas Beperk, Ltd. The pastoral nature of the country and its natural beauty may be appreciated when viewing the notes of two of these banks. In January, 1963, it was announced that the notes of these three banks would be gradually withdrawn and replaced with notes of the Republic of South Africa and Rhodesia and Nyasaland.

Angola, Portugal's other large African colony, like Mozambique, once was known by another name. The colony formerly was known as Luanda, after the capital city. Angola was settled in 1483 as Portuguese explorers pushed their way southward toward the Cape of Good Hope. This colony figured prominently in the early slave trade. Angola's notes are issued by the Banco de Angola in denominations of 20, 50, 100, 500, and 1,000 escudos. The monetary unit of angolares formerly was used.

The Republic of the Congo has been much in the news of late. This area, the former Belgian Congo, is not to be confused with the Congo republic, which together with Gabon, the Central African republic, and Chad were carved out of French Equatorial Africa in 1960. The Republic of the Congo maintains its seat of government in Leopoldville, while the capital of the Congo republic is Brazzaville, directly across the Congo river from Leopoldville. The Republic of the Congo to date has not issued currency in its own name, using the notes of the Banque Centrale du Congo Belge et du Ruanda-Urundi. This bank is a holdover from the days of Belgian colonialism when both the Congo and Ruanda-Urundi were under Belgian control.

Today Ruanda-Urundi remains the last Belgian possession in Africa, being administered by Belgium as a trust territory. Belgium was awarded this former German territory of 5,000,000 Watutsi tribesmen by the League of Nations after World War I. Ruanda-Urundi's financial status has been dignified by the establishment of the Banque d' Emission du Rwanda et du Burundi, which presently issues notes in denominations of 5, 10, 20, 50, 100, 500 and 1,000 francs. This series reflects the animal life of the area.

This South African Republic (Transvaal) one pound note was issued at Pietersburg after the fall of the capital of Pretoria to the British during the Boer War. The note bore six percent interest. The series was intended to be redeemed and destroyed in annual batches, however, the end of the war left many of these notes unredeemed in private hands. Approximate size 8" x 4 1/4".

Jack Koch, assistant to the executive secretary, at l., and Charles Johnson, chairman of the home and headquarters committee and A.N.A. governor, examine the album in which the names of honored donors to the headquarters fund will be engrossed.

and Wichita. This committee will consider any other offers of sites submitted by other cities or groups prior to February 1, 1965, provided they meet the basic requirements of the Association.

According to previously announced policy, the board of governors seeks a central and readily accessible site near major transcontinental air, rail and highway routes so that members may easily visit and communicate with it. In selecting a site, consideration will be given also to such matters as (1) satisfactory and nearby accommodations for visitors; (2) attractive surroundings, free from creeping urban blight; (3) suburban location away from commercial and business districts; and (4) ample space for expansion and parking. One of the important factors to be considered will be the cost of acquiring and operating the headquarters. Also, a gift of money or property will have a bearing on the final decision.

In setting a deadline of February 1, 1965 for offers of sites, the board wanted to be certain that all groups and every interested city had sufficient time to obtain information desired about the project and to prepare and submit offers. In this way each group and city has an equal opportunity and the A.N.A. will not be criticized for overlooking any desirable site or offer. The offers of sites so far made are very attractive from our standpoint. They would provide the Association with a valuable parcel of ground, estimated to be worth from $25,000 to $90,000. Under certain conditions these sites and the building placed thereon would be free from state and local taxes.

The benefits to the city finally chosen will come from having the Association's numismatic museum, the nation's largest circulating numismatic library that sends books all over the country, and the personnel, offices and facilities of the Association located in it. The museum, library and headquarters will be a prime local and tourist attraction. The city will receive also considerable publicity and prominence by having the 75-year-old federally chartered organization's headquarters. Each succeeding year should see an ever increasing flow of visitors to the headquarters, which will bring visitor's dollars and those of the organization's employees to the city.

The site selection committee named at Cleveland is made up of Governors Ralph Cleaver and Charles Johnson, First Vice President Matt H. Rothert; President P. K. Anderson and Executive Secretary Don Sherer as ex-officio members. This committee is interested in receiving comments and suggestions from A.N.A. members and others regarding proposed sites, such as the following recently received resolution from New York:

We, the members of Brooklyn Coin Club, by unanimous acclamation, petition the American Numismatic Association to erect the A.N.A. national home and headquarters at a centrally located area, easily accessible from any part of the continental United States, disregarding undue pressures.

Such resolutions and suggestions will enable the committee to know the wishes of A.N.A. members and affiliated clubs regarding proposed sites and offers, and will be useful in reaching a wise final decision.

After selecting a site at its February meeting, the board's timetable calls for the preparation of plans, drawings and specifications for the new building. These preliminary plans will then be published in The Numismatist and in other numismatic publications so that everyone will have the opportunity to check them over and supply ideas and suggestions for their improvement. Then the final plans, incorporating all worthwhile ideas and suggestions, will be submitted to the board for approval and adoption, probably at the Houston convention, and thereafter a contract will be let and construction started.

Many Working On Project

Originally the home and headquarters and all it can mean to numismatics was only a dream to a few A.N.A. officials and a committee drafting the working plans for the project. Now public spirited collectors and numismatists everywhere are volunteering their money and time to make the dream come true. The fund raising drive is being developed along several lines by its steering committee: Ralph Cleaver is organizing groups of key workers all over the country to tell the numismatic family about the project and enlist support; Matt Rothert is busy organizing support at local and regional meetings and shows; Charles Johnson is working on special developments, publicity and the overall coordination; other A.N.A. officials are pushing other phases of the project.

Al Overton of Pueblo, Colo., named by the board of governors as auctioneer for the 1965 Houston convention, is preparing a section of the regular auction to sell the many items being donated to the fund. Overton's time and services to this part of the auction are a donation to the drive. Those who have not done so should read his full page advertisement on page 1431 of the October issue of The Numismatist. Some quite valuable and desirable numismatic items are already on hand for this sale, for many donors prefer to give such material from their collections instead of cash because of the tax saving advantages. It also enables collectors to conserve cash and dispose of duplicates and other items no longer needed.

In forming the fund raising team,

Cleaver has written all A.N.A. clubs and asked their presidents to serve as key men in organizing and conducting the drive in their clubs and communities. "I know of one club that plans to become a patron of the A.N.A. and another that has set a goal of $1,000," said Cleaver. "Of course, many clubs will be unable to raise these amounts, but many are planning to give from one to two dollars for each of their members." Whatever the goal and amount may be, it is hoped that every A.N.A. club will join the team and do all it can to help this worthy project along to completion.

Another group of key men are the area or regional chairmen who are responsible for organizing and conducting the fund raising drive in their sections of the country. Among them are Cab Atkins, Thomas Bain, W. F. Betz, Harry Boosel, Leonard Campbell, Mrs. Homer B. Casey, Eliot Cashdan, Virginia Culver, J. J. Curto, Douglas Ferguson, Francis George, August Hausske, Robert Hendershott, Lee Hewitt, Jerry Hillebrand, Sol Kaplan, John Kelley, Abe Kosoff, Ray Lefman, A. I. Martin, Robert McArthur, Robert McNamara, Clifford Mishler, John Morris, Paul Olson, Lois Otis, Al Overton, Andy Phelps, John Pittman, Andrew Platz, Sid Pohlman, Ed Rochette, Harold Schmal, Joseph Segel, Nate Shapero, Vernon Sheldon, C. C. Shroyer, Jake Sureck, Leo Terry, L. S. Werner, Thomas Wood, William Worth, Jack Yeager, Richard Yeoman, Leo Young and Merrill Younkin. Others who would like to join this group of workers should contact Ralph F. Cleaver, 437 S. 5th St., Brighton, Colo. 80601.

Some Have Signed Pledges

As originally conceived, the fund raising drive was placed on a cash gift basis, but numerous suggestions made advisable the adoption of pledges as part of it. For tax and other reasons, many people prefer to make part of their contributions this year and the remainder over the next year or so. To meet this situation, a pledge form has been incorporated in the program, and the attention of all donors and drive workers is directed toward the use of this new feature in making and receiving contributions. Thus anyone wishing to make his contribution over a period of time or in the future should prepare and sign the pledge form and mail it to the executive secretary's office. It will then be considered as part of the funds available for the home and headquarters project.

Two prominent dealers have given $500 each to the fund and signed pledges to give an additional $1,500 each. Their $500 payments have been acknowledged, and the pledges have been included in that item in the published reports of receipts.

Through the sale at auction of the No. 1 platinum proof of the "In God We Trust" commemorative medal, donated by the National Commemorative Society, the building fund will be enriched by $2,075. There is more to come, for the Society has promised to donate the proceeds of the auction sale of its No. 1 monthly platinum proof until the accumulated amount reaches $10,000, which will make the Society a benefactor of the A.N.A.

During a meeting of the Token and Medal Society, a hat was passed for contributions to the fund and over $50 was collected. The Society will match this with funds from its treasury and give the A.N.A. a check for at least $100.

At the Cleveland convention, the privilege of having the No. 1 bourse table at Houston next year was auctioned and brought $4,000 for the fund. The Professional Numismatists Guild, which has set a goal of $50,000 help to the drive, was the successful bidder. At its recent show in San Francisco, the Northern California Numismatic Association decided to give the A.N.A. building fund the payment for one bourse table, but gave a check for $100 in lieu of the $80 proceeds from a table. Steering committee member Matt Rothert suggests that other groups holding shows adopt some such policy.

For A Stronger Organization

Chairman Charles Johnson reminds all who are working on this project to remember that we are working for a better organization, and that the home and headquarters is just one phase of this aim. We should not forget to encourage worthy collectors and numismatists to become members of our Association and share in the many benefits of affiliation with the nation's largest and most active numismatic organization. In brief: Build our membership as we build our home.

COSTA RICA

Stainless steel coins, as shown here and on the back cover of Steelways magazine, published by American Iron and Steel Institute, have already been struck by Costa Rica, France, Italy, Albania, Turkey and Vatican City. Stainless steel resists wear and retains brilliance, is plentiful, economical and of low intrinsic value. Its use discourages hoarding, thus preventing withdrawal of needed coins from circulation.

FIGHT BAD PUBLICITY THROUGH NCW

Are you getting angry at the way our hobby is being cussed and discussed by the newspapers, magazines, and even some of our government people? Are you annoyed when you check the change you just received from a cashier, and hear the accusing voice of a stranger say, "Oh, so you are one of those!"? Well, griping won't help, so let's do something about it.

Thousands of people attend our coin shows each year, but most of them are interested in coins already. They have the opportunity to see our exhibits and realize that our hobby is educational. But it is the others who talk the loudest. So, if they will not come to us, then we must go to them. Let's put educational numismatic exhibits in stores, libraries, banks and many other locations, right under the noses of the public.

Coin collecting is a "peoples' hobby." National Coin Week is a "peoples' project," started by Julius Guttag of New York in 1924. The American Numismatic Association sponsors the event each year, and will furnish you with signs for your exhibits. It gives awards to winners of first, second and third place in three classes for A.N.A. clubs, and there is an individual class where A.N.A. members may compete. The minimum age for junior members in the A.N.A. is 17, but we have many good collectors who have not reached that age. Therefore, any junior member of an A.N.A. club or association may enter individual competition in National Coin Week, if his scrapbook report is accompanied by a letter from the president or secretary of that club stating he is a member in good standing, his membership number and the A.N.A. number of the club. Every NCW contestant, whether a winner or not, will receive an A.N.A. participation certificate.

National Coin Week for 1965 will be April 24 through May 1. The theme is "Good Will Through Numismatics." Regardless of your political affiliation, you know that these words of the late John F. Kennedy will go down in history: "Ask not what your country can do for you, but ask what you can do for your country." Here is your chance to put that philosophy into practice. Good will through numismatics covers a wide field. It can mean good will for you, your club and the A.N.A. when you do something constructive in your own community. It can also mean international good will. Let's discuss international good will now because of the time element involved.

The A.N.A. has members in 62 countries other than the United States. Letters have been sent to these members, inviting them to join us in National Coin Week by showing exhibits in their own communities. It is possible that, if enough interest is shown by collectors in other countries, our National Coin Week could develop into an "International Numismatic Week."

But here are a few hints to members here in the United States. Since 1956 we have had a People-to-People program to encourage us to write to those in other countries. Both President Eisenhower and the late President Kennedy felt that this was a very important project. If you are interested, write to People-to-People, 2401 Grand Ave., Kansas City, Mo. 64108. Give your name, address, age, special hobbies and enclose a self-addressed and stamped envelope. The Parker Pen Co. is conducting an "international penfriend program" at the New York world's fair, using the theme "peace through understanding through writing." Visitors are asked to fill out an application with name, address, age, sex, area, and language wanted. Moments after this information is fed into a giant machine, out comes a name and address of a person suitable for the applicant to write. Those who do not visit the fair may make application to Parker Pen Company, Janesville, Wis.

In writing of coins brought back from other countries by servicemen and tourists, R. S. Yeoman makes this statement in his book A Catalog of Modern World Coins: "Look upon this as a sort of challenge, or opportunity to learn about the countries of their origin, the denominations, relative monetary values and other facts of history, government, rulers, and geography which they represent."

We claim that numismatics is historical and educational. During NCW you are not showing to coin collectors only, so include historical and educational information in your exhibits by using pictures, a small flag, and other items of interest along with coins, paper money and medals. Working with people in other countries toward exhibits for NCW can prove interesting, and you may request a certificate of participation for them also, if they help obtain the material for you and tell you something useful about the people, emblems and money of their country.

You will be doing several things at the same time. You will be making new friends. You will be learning, and teaching others by passing along what you learn through information you place in your exhibit. You will be earning respect for the A.N.A. and our hobby, both here and in other countries. You will be helping our own country by being a good will ambassador. It is a long goal to shoot for but maybe — just maybe — some nonnumismatic publication will print something nice about our hobby.

It is a challenge to each of us: The big shots and the little pistols; the wheelers and the dealers; the specialist and the change checker. The A.N.A. has approved some new ideas, so let's "get with it." All clubs which submit official reports with evidence of actual participation, and all those entering individual competition and submitting a report for National Coin Week, will have their names published in The Numismatist after the close of NCW 1965. Will your name or your club's name be in that list? — LOIS OTIS, Chm., 17643 Lincoln Ave., Homewood, Ill. 60430

Obituaries

MRS. ANNA M. RIPSTRA

Anna M. Ripstra, widow of the late J. Henri Ripstra who was A.N.A. LM 29 and a past president of the Association, died June 23, 1964 at the age of 82.

Mrs. Ripstra was born in Holland and came to the United States at the age of 8. She was one of a large family which settled in Grand Rapids, Mich., where she met and married Henri, a native of that city. They moved to Chicago about 1907 and spent the remainder of their useful lives there, Henri becoming well known as a maker of fine tools and dies. Anna became charter member 28 when the Chicago Coin Club was formed. While she never took an active part in numismatics as a collector, she was well known to those who attended Chicago Coin Club meetings and A.N.A. conventions.

Mrs. Ripstra had lived in Lombard, a suburb of Chicago, since the death of her husband in 1961. She was a devoted wife and mother, and a valued friend of many who missed her cheerful presence during a long illness. She is survived by two sons, Earl F. and H. Irving, one daughter, Ethel Mae, six grandchildren and six great-grandchildren. — GBS

HOWARD J. EKLUND, A.N.A. NO. 32792

Howard J. Eklund, 50, sales engineer for the George K. Garrett Co., and a Chicago Coin Club member since 1957, died of cancer on July 23, 1964.

He was a devoted member of his local club, serving for several years on its auction committee and assisting in various special club projects. He was the utility man who volunteered for the difficult and unpublicized assignments, one of which was the planning of the estate conservation advisory committee, a first among coin clubs. An enthusiastic exhibitor, he received the first place award in the medal class at the 1963 A.N.A. convention in Denver with his exhibit of Pony Express medals. He won the first award also at the Central States convention in Milwaukee with his medal exhibit.

Surviving are his widow, Dorys, and daughter Gloria Pontone. He had many friends in the Chicago Coin Club who are saddened by the loss of a numismatic gentleman. — MMD

HAROLD G. HAWKINS, A.N.A. NO. 23712

A collector of U. S. gold coins, Mr. Hawkins was a charter member and past president of the Norwalk Coin Club. He had served as its treasurer also, and was one of its directors at the time of death. He was well and widely known in Los Angeles area numismatic circles, and had made quite a study of ancient Greek coins in recent years. His collection of classical and gold coins had been on exhibit in the American Savings in Norwalk for several years.

Survivors include his widow, Harriet, and a son, Douglas.

EDWARD F. FEELY, A.N.A. NO. 6492

Edward F. Feely, 84, a native of Rochester, N. Y., died there August 28. Mr. Feely had lived in South Norwalk, Conn. from 1935 to 1961, but made his home with a brother in Rochester for the last several years.

He joined The International Nickel Company, N. Y. C., and served as its Latin American representative and was in charge of coinage research until his retirement in 1956. An expert in the field of coinage, he contributed frequently to numismatic publications, including at least 9 articles in as many volumes of The Numismatist.

Mr. Feely married the former Mary E. Garfield, now deceased, in 1920. He is survived by a brother, Joseph M., of Rochester, a sister, Clara Feely, and several nephews.

1965 Convention Comments

Correct dates for the A.N.A. 74th anniversary convention are August 25-28, 1965. Some material, including hotel registration cards, list the dates as August 24-28. This is our error which was brought about by consulting a 1964 calendar 'way back in 1963. However, as you well know, there are always many pre-convention activities and an early arrival could prove to be of interest. We sincerely trust this error will not cause any confusion.

All dealers who wish to apply for bourse space and have not done so already, please write direct to me for an official application form. Mail this request to me rather than to Don Sherer to relieve his office of forwarding responsibility and thereby hurry matters along. My address is given below. And please, do not send any deposit. Note: Deadline for returning the official application is January 15, 1965. Don't say you were not warned.

Our registration chairman is making preparations for pre-convention registration. There will be notice of this and the procedure to follow in The Numismatist and in other numismatic publications around March or April. This is in answer to several inquiries, and should save others from writing — not that we aren't glad to hear from you.

We're working hard at home base. How about you spreading the good word? — A. I. MARTIN, Gen. Chm., 6207 Chevy Chase Drive, Houston, Texas 77027

Because of nickel's toughness and high melting point, coins made of this metal are very difficult to counterfeit. They are also resistant to wear and corrosion, of a pleasing color, and are not difficult to produce.

OFFICIAL OLYMPIC MEDAL

The Tokyo Olympic organizing committee has issued 50,000 of its official sterling silver medal which will retail in the United States at $10.00 each. Numismatica Italiana of Milano, world distributor, has given exclusive United States distributorship to the U. S. Coin Corp., 25 W. 43rd St., New York 36, N. Y. Sculptor was F. Fossa. Featured on the obverse are the five rings, symbolic of the 18th Olympics, with legends in Japanese and English. The reverse consists of stylized Greek capitals representing the original Olympic games, a torii (Shinto temple door) indicating Japan, a chariot representing sport and an athlete bearing a flaming torch.

ERROR FOUND ON NCS MEDAL

The National Commemorative Society reports an error occurred during the striking of sterling silver proofs of the "In God We Trust" medal. The middle initial of Rev. Watkinson's name was given as "A" instead of "R" on the obverse. The first 1546 serially numbered proofs bore the incorrect initial, Nos. 1547 through 5252 were not affected. Although NCS offered to melt down the incorrect ones and supply perfect medals, very few collectors accepted. A number of NCS subscribers asked for both the correct and the incorrect pieces but an iron clad policy of issuing one, and only one, proof of each medal does not permit it. Joseph M. Segel, NCS board chairman, says "There will be only 5252 proofs of this commemorative in existence, approximately 1500 of which will be incorrect. Then the two obverse dies, together with the sole reverse die, will be mutilated and rendered useless." The first platinum proof, the only error in that metal, was sold at the Cleveland A.N.A. auction for $2,075.00 to Arnold Shestack of New York City. Following NCS practice, the entire proceeds of this sale went to the A.N.A. building fund.

About eighty members and guests of Tucson Coin Club, A.N.A. 26529, enjoyed an interesting talk on numismatics from the dealers' viewpoint, by Clarence Maguire, at the August 25 meeting. He mentioned first the old-time collector who acquired beautiful coins and medals, mostly for the love of them, to keep in plush lined drawers for easy viewing. Then came the coin boards, which helped popularize coin collecting, followed by the better albums and finally the splendid book shelf type holders. The teletype helps the dealer locate material and at the same time makes him a broker. In speaking of the more recent trend to speculation, Clarence cited the tremendous amount of advertising in the coin papers. The overall effect of the talk was to make us realize how much change is taking place in the hobby. Members authorized the purchase of eight more lightweight show cases, which will bring our supply to 29. Members are reminded that our library is open to them from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily except Sundays at 94 E. Broadway.

Ford City, Penna., businessmen sponsored a three hour radio broadcast of the second annual show held by the Ford City Coin Club, A.N.A. 48208, August 29-30. Club officers were highly gratified with the show, which attracted some 2,000 visitors. The radio broadcast was handled by Norman Wallace of Kittanning Station WACB, and the interviews and descriptions of exhibits were well received by people who were unable to attend the show in person. A membership in the Club was given to Wallace for the fine job he did and because of the interest in collecting he developed during the show. Bourse Chairman Alfred Saloom induced the four brothers of West Leechburg, Alexander (A.N.A. 11292), Edward, John and Walter Vajko, to join our club. Mrs. Stefna Pochiber, their sister, is also a coin collector and attended the show with her husband. Exhibit award winners were the following: Robert Booth, first in foreign coins and best of show; Raymond Rennick, paper money; Irene Mazur, U. S. coins; Joseph Gill, medals; and Kermit Evans, Jr., junior exhibitor with types of U. S.

The newly elected officers of Muncie Coin and Stamp Club, A.N.A. 28713, took over their offices at the September meeting at the Muncie, Ind., YWCA. These officers are: President Paul Robinson, Vice President Robert Harvey, Secretary Bob Rhinberger, Treasurer Mildred Fager, and Corresponding Secretary Robert

Wilson. In addition to the regular meetings held the second Monday monthly, this group will be responsible for the annual coin and stamp show to be held in January at the Ball State Student Center. — ROBERT E. WILSON, Corr. Sec.

At a recent meeting of Atlantic City Coin Club, Sam Burgdorf exhibited coins and spoke on a history of money through the ages. His exhibit included electrotypes made by permission of the British Museum of many virtually unobtainable coins such as the Brasher doubloon, quarter, half and shekels of the first, second and third revolt of the Jews, and others. It was a wonderful collection to see and hear about. Pierre Carious, who won best of show at our show last April, is coming back from France to give another fine display and narration. Our Treasurer, Bill Scull, 6210 Winchester Ave., Ventnor, N. J., will be glad to send an application for membership or a copy of our club news to anyone who will write him. We welcome guests at our meetings at the Ritz Carlton Hotel on the Boardwalk. — JIM MCNEILL, Pres.

Some rather heated discussions developed at the September 2 meeting of the Brooklyn Coin Club, A.N.A. 4242. It started when Frank Porcaro rose to make a report regarding procurement of foreign coinage, with which Frank keeps in touch. A lengthy discussion evolved concerning the chicanerous cartels that monopolize entire issues of many foreign countries and municipalities. These unethical "associations" create exorbitant price fixing on the coinages involved, to the detriment of numismatics as a whole. The consensus of opinion was that these "shenanigans" will inevitably kill off the proverbial goose by discouraging many numismatists from collecting these foreign coinages. Then, during a glowing report of the recent A.N.A. Cleveland convention by Secretary Max Vlotkoffsky, the subject of the A.N.A. building project came up and prompted some rather pointed questions. Why does the A.N.A. need a building? Won't it create a hardship on those officers who are in sections of the country remote from the building? Who is going to decide upon the location, and how? Will individual members and/or member clubs have any say in deciding on the location? Treasurer Irving Vengrove submitted a resolution petitioning the A.N.A.

to locate the national home and headquarters in a centrally disposed area, easily accessible from any section of continental United States. After unanimous acceptance of the resolution by those present, President Eddie Schuman directed the secretary to send a copy of it to the proper A.N.A. personnel. Initial discussions were started anent the Brooklyn Coin Club anniversary dinner, and Isadore Herman was appointed chairman-in-charge again. The secretary won the meeting exhibit award, primarily for his display of souvenirs of the Cleveland convention. — MAX VLOTKOFFSKY, Sec.

The Tazewell Numismatic Society, A.N.A. 38501, is holding its second annual show November 14-15 at the Elks Club in Pekin, Ill. Space is available for at least thirty bourse tables, many exhibits, and auctions Saturday afternoon and evening and on Sunday afternoon. Admission will be free and food and refreshments will be available. General chairman of the show is Norman Wolfer, P. O. Box 524, Pekin, Ill. — CHARLES A. PAPE, Publ. Chm.

The Youngstown Numismatic Club, A.N.A. 3470, is thirty-six years young and celebrated the anniversary at its September 3 meeting. Founded in 1928 by five men, it has grown to a membership of 530 at present. Since becoming an A.N.A. member in 1929 it has grown to be one of the largest clubs in the country. President John Bosley presented life memberships to five members in recognition of their outstanding work on behalf of the Club and contributions to the field of numismatics. So honored were James Crawford, Jack Jones, George Smith, Francis Soos and Harry Vanden Bosch. Ray Lawrence, the oldest active member of the Club, had the honor of cutting and serving a large birthday cake which was part of the evening's refreshments. — JOHN BOSLEY, President

The Union County Stamp & Coin Club will hold its annual show on November 1 at the American Legion Hall on the west edge of Marysville, Ohio. There will be fourteen bourse tables, exhibits and an auction, all open to the public from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Plenty of free parking space is available, admission to the show will be free, and there will be meal and snack service. — DAN DOLAN, Pres.

The sixty-third meeting of North East Ohio Coin Club, A.N.A. 34000, on September 15 was held at the Charterhouse Motor Hotel, Cleveland. As a surprise to Jim Kirkwood and many of the 235 members and guests attending, President Bill Halliwell presented an honorary membership to Jim in recognition of his many years of outstanding service to the Club and to numismatics in general. Past President Richard Krotz, Don Decker, Guy Waltman and Tony Olszewski recounted many of Jim's activities for the benefit of those who have not known him over his long and active numismatic career. On display were the A.N.A. convention awards won by Jim Kirkwood for first place in foreign paper money, and by Tony Olszewski for first place in modern foreign coins and second place in Latin American coins. Being the end of a three month membership drive, Second Vice President Thomas Ashton announced that 59 new members had been added to our roster. All members who had signed up new members took part in a drawing for a free weekend at the Charterhouse for two. Bill Halliwell, Thomas Ashton and Rose Engelman were the first three in the drawing, but all declined and asked that the certificate be given to Jim Kirkwood. — MRS. HENRY ENGELMAN, Publ. Chm.

At its November 7 show, the Morris & Essex County Coin Club, A.N.A. 43953, plan to give full-fledged support to alleviation of the coin shortage. If each person in Livingston and Newark, N. J., has a dollar's worth of coins in a piggy bank, the change thus withheld from circulation amounts to over a million dollars. The Club is asking that these idle coins be turned in at the show for crisp new bills, and it will have a counting machine and wrappers on hand to facilitate the exchange. The show will be open from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. in the VFW Hall on Mount Pleasant Avenue, and during this time a free wooden nickel will be given to each person turning in coins for paper money. It is hoped that this service will show the good intentions of coin collectors and erase a tiny bit of the excess blame that has been placed on them for the coin shortage.

The Umpqua Valley Coin Club, A.N.A. 31828, will hold a coinarama on November 14-15 at the Roseburg (Ore.) fairgrounds community building. It will feature a dealer's bourse, displays and door prizes from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Admission will be free and refreshments will be available on the premises. — BEVERLY YESKE, Sec.

The members and guests of Southern Hub Coin Club participated in a quiz program at the September meeting. Conducted by Program Chairman Foster Hall and his wife, Ann, the quiz was of the true or false type, with the "Red Book" serving as the basis for all questions and answers. B. B. Crow's exhibit of Indian cents won the exhibitors' cash award, with other displays being by Norma Calkins, Vena Crow and Mel Kohl. Guests are welcomed to our meeting the second Sunday afternoon each month in the Lennox Women's Hall in Lennox, Calif. — MRS. M. W. DENNIS, Publ. Chm.

Sixty-five members and guests of Bergen County Coin Club, A.N.A. 22867, heard President Andy Fallier announce that the Club's fifth annual show will be held at the Bergen, N. J., Mall Auditorium on March 6. Also at the 116th meeting, the Club's annual Christmas Party was announced for December 9 at the Rustic Lodge on Route 46 in East Paterson. It was observed that the Club was well represented at the recent A.N.A. Cleveland convention, where Ray Gallo received his 25 year A.N.A. membership medal. We are proud of Edward Black for winning third place award with his New Jersey exhibit in the tough specialized class. Exhibits of the evening featured new acquisitions and finds of the past summer. — HELEN L. SCHRADER, Rec. Sec.

At its annual meeting on September 9, the Monroe County Coin Club of Stroudsburg, Pa., A.N.A. 16165, elected and installed the following officers: President Arthur C. Cramer, Vice President Al Hertz, Secretary Edith E. Urban, Treasurer Elaine I. Zager, and Sergeant-at-Arms Dale Kirk. A life membership was bestowed upon retiring Treasurer Carroll R. All, who had served the Club faithfully for 15 years in that capacity. — MRS. EDITH E. URBAN, Sec.

place in the Gunter Hotel October 31 and November 1, and is presented by the Alamo Coin Club, Gateway Coin Club, and San Antonio Coin Club. There will be exhibits, forty bourse tables, three auction sessions and door prizes.

At the September 3 meeting of the Muscle Shoals Coin Club, A.N.A. 33635, the following officers for the coming year were elected: President Mrs. Faye Kirkpatrick; Vice Presidents Otis Brown and O. H. Cash; Corresponding Secretary Mrs. Ludy Mae Smith; Recording Secretary Mrs. Essie Mae Anderson; Treasurer Mrs. Jane Riddle; and Director A. W. Beinlich, Jr. These officers will assume their duties at the annual banquet meeting on October 1, for which arrangements were discussed at this meeting. — MILDRED J. HILL, Rec. Sec.

An interested audience of 137 members and guests listened attentively to the inspiring message of incoming President Al Wick at the 270th meeting of the Missouri Numismatic Society, A.N.A. 7183, on September 14 at the Sheraton-Jefferson Hotel, St. Louis. President Wick lauded the effective, progressive efforts of the Society over the 25 years of its existence, which have resulted in a steady growth consistently aimed at creating interest in, and perpetuating the science of numismatics. He warned against small cliques of members and invited all to join the clique of active, hard-working members whose untiring efforts contribute so much to the success of the over-all program. As Wick so aptly put it, "Together we can run a tight ship." Speaking for the other newly elected officers as well, he cited the welfare of the members and the continued progress of our Society as the primary administrative objectives during the coming year. Prior to his introductory remarks, Wick presented to retiring President Page a gold lapel pin shaped as a gavel on the handle of which are the initials of the Society. Other newly elected officers are Vice President Jerry Hillebrand; Secretary John Schanzle; Treasurer Frank Shea; Board Chairman Charles Page; and Board Members Ed Boehme, Sr., Frank Clemens and Chris Schlather. Wick praised retiring Vice President Caroline Boehme, Secretary Bernice Stevenson, Treasurer John Stevenson and Board Member Tom Elder. Among the new committees appointed is one to promote the 1970 A.N.A. convention, the members being Jerry Hillebrand, John Schanzle and Dave Cooper. They have made a bid to the A.N.A. officers already, and will continue to work actively during the intervening years toward obtaining it for St. Louis under the auspices of our Society. Long-time members John Stevenson and Walter Vredenburgh were named to a bereavement and advisory committee to serve as consultants to survivors of deceased members of the Society in the appraisal and disposition of numismatic material. — BERNICE STEVENSON, Publ. Chm.

At its September 16 meeting, the Compton Coin Club, A.N.A. 43963, presented its first A.N.A. Educational Award certificate to guest speaker James R. Ray of Long Beach for his splendid talk on "Silver Dollars Used in the Colonies and United States." He provided also a valuable and beautiful collection of the subject coins, including many rarities which most of our members had never seen before and which he permitted to be removed from their unique display case for closer examination. The human interest stories about the patrician profile of the young school teacher on the Morgan dollar, and the interesting history of Peter, the mint eagle, and his sad demise through curiosity — such accounts brought to our attention other interesting details from "dollar scholars' anent the tail feather tales (forgive the pun). The question and answer period was a nice tribute to our honored speaker and attested to the CCC members' respect for numismatic knowledge. Five new and interestingly different displays made voting a pleasurable but difficult task. Seattle and New York fair medals and tokens won the blue ribbon for Ernest Featherston. Joy Parrish received the red ribbon for her case of artistic medals, with third place going to Rolly Stokes for showing the Tonga round stamps. Exhibits by Wayne Dennis and Ken Young were close contenders. As if this wasn't enough, we celebrated our fourth anniversary of founding with eight luscious cakes baked by Carolyn Apache, Ann Hall, Marie Larsen, Helen Milliron, Beulah Porch, Lula Randall, Evelyn Stokes and Helen Trumppower. With coffee donated by Lee Morgan and the aid of our very first hostess, Mary Alter, the 77 members and guests thoroughly enjoyed themselves. We thought it was a nice switch when most of the evening's prizes went to guests. We welcome interested visitors to our meetings the third Wednesday evening monthly in the Recreation Center, Leuders Park, Compton, Calif. — Compton Coinette, FELICE BURT, Editor

Members of the Bellaire Coin Club, A.N.A. 49613, heard an acknowledgement at the July 28 meeting from Mrs. Harriet Reynolds, director of the Houston (Texas) Public Library, in which she thanked the Club for a donation of books. Paid for from money received at the Club's first annual show last May, the books donated to the library were How to Start a Coin Collection, and A Guide Book of United States Coins. At the September 8 meeting, President Frank Pease announced that an essay contest will be held for juniors. The junior member writing the best essay of 50 words or less on "Why Coin Collecting is My Hobby" will be awarded a 1960 Philadelphia mint small date cent at the November 10 meeting. — MRS. BARBARA ELLIS, Sec.

New officers of the Ft. Lauderdale Coin Club were elected at the August meeting, as follows: President John B. Schelter, Vice President Kenneth Lobb, Treasurer Sydney Kupferberg, and Secretary Dorothy Hughes. Meeting the first and third Wednesdays monthly, the Club starts the 1964-65 year with 58 paid up members. As an innovation we started publishing the biweekly Coinnoter during the past year and find it very successful and useful. It serves as a meeting notice and keeps members up to date on club activities, as well as giving them other items of numismatic interest. From its first issue, advertising space has been fully subscribed at considerable help to our budget. We welcome visitors to our meetings, and invite anyone interested in becoming a member to write to the secretary at P. O. Box A-813, Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. for information and an application form. — DOROTHY HUGHES, Sec.

In spite of 104 degree temperatures in Van Nuys on August 22 and 23, the West Valley Coin Club's sixth annual coin showcase in Carpenters Hall was a huge success. Attendance exceeded two thousand, with 1550 of the visitors paying admission. The 32 bourse dealers expressed great satisfaction with the management of the show and did so well that many of them requested space for next year's show. Doug Hartley, who conducted the auction, said that many coins brought record prices and that, all in all, it was the finest sale he had ever handled. The highlight of the show was the outstanding array of exhibits, which easily exceeded any previous effort of this six year old club. Exhibit Chairman Sid Marks noted that the judges had a difficult time selecting the first place winners, and then spent two hours ex-group - Bertha Snyder, Burbank, Jack Seeler, Los Angeles, and Dr. Nier, also of Los Angeles. Winners received their trophies on Saturday and placed them on the exhibits, giving viewers the opportunity to know how each exhibit rated with the judges. Club President Murray Singer, who is also president-elect of NASC, expressed his gratitude to those who contributed time and effort toward making this the finest numismatic show ever held in the San Fernando Valley. Other officers of the Club are: First Vice President Walter Snyder, Second Vice President Sid Marks, Treasurer Charley Eads, Corresponding Secretary Leonard Donald, Recording Secretary Sally Marx, and Directors Ben Adams and Warren Overlin. Others who headed show activities include Ed and Peggy Borgolte, Dr. N. Gitlin and Clay Reed - SID MARKS, Publ. Chm.

The Odessa (Texas) Coin Club held its August 27 meeting in the First National Bank's community room, with younger members Linda Bobo and James Paxson appearing on the educational program. Arnold Martin related the highlights, as he saw them, of the recent A.N.A. convention in Cleveland. President Goodwin announced that all bourse tables had been sold for our November 14 and 15 show, and that TNA Second Vice President Floyd Covill will be exhibit chairman and also judging chairman for the show. Several nice exhibits, including a 1913 Liberty Head nickel and 1804 dollar, have been promised. All members were urged to enter exhibits. Extra awards are being offered in this show, one for juniors and one for adults who are members of the Club. - THELMA MAXWELL, Secretary

The Newport County Coin Club, A.N.A. 47417, has disclosed plans for its third annual coin festival to be held May 1-2. Bourse tables will be in the main ballroom of Hotel Viking, where there will be exhibits and an auction also. General Chairman Ralph S. Jaffe should be contacted at 433 Thames St., Newport, R.I., for further details. - ALFRED G. ALMEIDA, Secretary

Paul Washburn, president of Key City Coin Club, Abilene, Texas, spoke to the seventy in attendance at the September 3 meeting on "Coinage of the United East India Company." He displayed several types of coins issued by this company, which actually produced more coins than have a number of countries. The United East India Company was chartered by the British government in 1600 to operate from the Cape of Good Hope to the Strait of Magellan, but achieved its greatest success in India which it actually governed for a long time. The Company flourished until 1859 when it was taken over by the British Crown following the Sepoy rebellion. - BETH GEIGER, Sec.

(Editor's note: The above meeting report proves that there still are collectors who find more than speculative value in coins, and can make an interesting exhibit and talk of educational value from relatively inexpensive material. Anyone who takes the time to read "Club News" will find other such instances reported. We suggest that the critics of our fine hobby look at the bright side of it now and then.)

The 97th meeting of the Essex County Coin Club was held as usual on the second Tuesday of the month, September 8, at the Crestmont Savings, Maplewood, N. J. The meeting opened at 8:30 p.m. The president Anthony Milli presided. There were 40 members and 4 guests.

The guests were made welcome and urged to become members. The minutes were read and accepted. The treasury report shows we are doing better than meeting expenses. The chairman of the convention committee completed his arrangements for the convention to be September 13th and all is in readiness for a successful convention. There was a snafou by one of our local newspapers who dated our convention ahead of time but they promised to print a retraction. There was an air of general confidence that the publicity and general public interest would be of good benefit to the club and create numismatic interest in new people. The meeting adjourned for the small but interesting auction with a number of odd lots and curious bidders. Then a general movement towards the kitchen for the genial coffee hour.

The exhibit winners at the September 13 show in the Robert Treat Hotel in Newark were: Pierre Ceriou, miscellaneous class; Leslie Faskew, foreign coins; Irv Klein, U. S. coins; Frances Morrison, U. S. paper money; and Kenneth Morrison, colonial coins. — JAMES A. BROWN, Sec.-Treas.

Henry Clifford of Pasadena was the featured speaker at the September meeting of North American Aviation Stamp & Coin Club, A.N.A. 48629. Clifford did a fine job of presenting "Pioneer Gold of the West" in such a manner that he held the attention of the hundred members and guests present for 45 minutes. The romance, excitement and real American history behind the early gold coinage of the country is indeed an interesting and educational subject. Following presentation of this golden history of a golden era, he gave a short resume of the important part that "Snow Shoe" Thompson played in the early American postal history, thus giving his subject an interesting slant to the stamp collectors in attendance. Mrs. Robert Axelrod was awarded the first place silver trophy for her fine display of wooden money from Canada and the United States. Mrs. John R. Parrish won the second place trophy with a frame of colorful international cacheted covers from around the world. The Club will participate in the three forthcoming shows in southern California, including the Cal State convention at Disneyland and the exposition in Hawthorne in November. President Ed Heitz extends an invitation to interested persons to visit us at any of our meetings the first Monday evening monthly at the N.A.A. Recreation Center social hall, 5352 West Imperial, Los Angeles. — JOY PARRISH, Publ. Chm.

A group of 45 heard W. E. Wozencraft report on the recent A.N.A. Cleveland convention at the September 10 meeting of Big Spring Coin Club in the Crawford Hotel. He told of the many fine displays, especially those brought from other countries, and the interesting NCW scrapbooks displayed. He then presented to Sgt. Victor D. Barlow, our National Coin Week chairman, the third place plaque which our entry won in national competition. On display at this meeting was the scrapbook reporting our NCW activities. Three Big Spring, Texas, men became members of the Club at this meeting. — REFA BARLOW, Sec.

The following new officers of the International Coin Club, A.N.A. 49285, were elected at a recent meeting: President Curtis A. Blaylock; Vice President Frank

N. Valle; Secretary-Treasurer William Berry; and Master-at-Arms Julio Rojas. Plans are underway for the Club's second show to be held January 30-31. The first show was held in the Hilton Inn just a few steps from the El Paso airport and drew an attendance in excess of 3,000. Only forty bourse tables will be sold at $25 each and arranged in accordance with an impartial drawing a month in advance. Advertising is planned which is expected to draw collectors and dealers from Mexico and many parts of the U. S. Bourse applications and requests for exhibit space should be sent to William Berry, P. O. Box 3756, El Paso, Texas. This most active club meets every Thursday evening at 4005 Montana in El Paso and welcomes visitors to any meeting. — WM. L. TIMMONS, Publ. Chm.

At its meeting on August 26, the Big-D Coiners Club, A.N.A. 49110, was honored to have V. S. VanCleave as its guest speaker. He gave the group a preview of what to expect in the class he will conduct on coin collecting this fall at Southern Methodist University. Among the things mentioned were ancient coins and tokens and the many facts and folklore stories surrounding these coins. — RONNIE MAX SMITH, Sec.

Eight new members were accepted by the Torrance Coin Club, A.N.A. 40555, at its September 15 meeting. The eighty-five in attendance got some good pointers from Blaine Milliron's talk on collecting coins and medals with a view to their value when one reaches the retirement age. He displayed some of the material which he is collecting with this thought in mind. A goodly variety of interesting exhibits were presented by Bob Axelrod, Minerva Axelrod, Vena Crow, Wayne Dennis, Mel Kohl, Ronald Stokes and Jack Strausberg. Unusual items included gold notes, the famous Waterloo medal, two uncut sheets of Hungarian notes, and a set of wooden nickels representing every state in the Union. We welcome visitors to our meetings the third Tuesday evening monthly in the Recreation Hall at 3341 Torrance Blvd. in Torrance, Calif. — LILA M. BARRETT, Corr. Sec.

By invitation, Jack Miller of radio station KCSR and Con Marshall of the Chadron Record attended the September 16 meeting of the Panhandle Coin Club, A.N.A. 36183, in the Chadron City Hall. Members of the Club gave their personal thanks to these two men for their help to the Club in our National Coin Week activities. It is only with the assistance of the local news media that we have been able to win honors in this national event in each of the past four years. Ed Coates gave a very interesting talk about a gold coin. — TED KADLECEK, JR.

At a recent meeting in the home of Dr. Carrico, the board of directors of the San Gabriel Valley Coin Club, A.N.A. 20258, voted to close the membership at 65 members. The Club holds meetings monthly at the Huntington-Sheraton Hotel in Pasadena, and is considered to be one of the most influential clubs in the entire West. Among its members are such men as M. H. Bolender, Sam J. Kabelo, Robert Clarke, Henri Heller, Richard Hawekotte, Alva Christenson and that fine lady, Ethel Stone. Most of the members are doctors, scientists, professors or business executives. Closing the membership was felt necessary to preserve the high standards established and to guard against indiscriminate persons seeking to use the Club's facilities for speculative purposes. New members may make applications only when vacancies occur. At the September meeting Edward Walthall gave an inspiring talk on foreign coins. — GORDON Z. GREENE

Ernest Jonas, A.N.A. 1743, who could not be present at the Cleveland convention, received his 50 year gold membership medal at the Chicago Coin Club meeting on September 9. Mr. Jonas, who is a charter member of the Club and still active in numismatics, was presented the honor medal by Glenn B. Smedley amidst the enthusiastic applause of his fellow club members. Ernest had a small but interesting exhibit of his favorite foreign crowns at this meeting. Also present was his wife, Magdalena, long time member of the Club, and their grandson who we hope to see carry on the Jonas numismatic tradition. Harry X Boosel read a paper summarizing his research on the Saudi Arabian gold discs. Extensive correspondence over a period of several years and the examination of quite a few of the discs was required before Boosel reached the conclusion that these discs were manufactured for Saudi Arabia through the intervention of the Arabian-American Oil Company in order to keep oil flowing for the U. S. Navy. Legally speaking, these pieces which were struck in 1945 and 1947 are not collectible, since they are not coins. Boosel noted that counterfeits of both the sovereign and four-sovereign size discs have appeared, first coming to his attention about ten years after the pieces were made. — M. M. DOLNICK, Pres.

The Richmond Coin Club, A.N.A. 9666, invites everyone to its first Coin-a-Rama on November 21 at the John Marshall Hotel. There will be a bourse and an auction. Additional information may be obtained from Secretary Dale G. Forrest, 2916 Oakland Ave., Richmond, Va. 23228. — E. B. PALAZZO

There will be bourse dealers and exhibits, with awards for various classes of coins and stamps. No auction is planned. Further information may be obtained from C. H. Clark, 1000 High St., Worthington, Ohio 43085.

The Hamilton (Ontario) Coin Club, A.N.A. 7223, will hold a show on November 14 at the Wentworth Arms Hotel. With an admission charge of 25¢, the show will be open from 10 a.m. to 11 p.m. and include displays, a bourse and auction. The bourse table fee is $5. Further information may be secured from Mrs. Ethel Sentes, 1501 Augustine Drive, Burlington, Ont., Canada. — BRUCE COLLINGS, Sec.

The Omaha Coin Club, A.N.A. LM 36, will hold its fifth annual show on October 31-November 1 at Hotel Paxton in Omaha, Nebr. Exhibits will be in five classes for competition, and there will be a forty-two table bourse. One of the highlights will be the auction of material from the estate of former A.N.A. President Nels T. Thorson, who founded the thirty year old Omaha Coin Club. — AL MOORE, Bourse Chm.

Seventy-five members and several guests at the September 9 meeting of the Forty-Niner Coin Club applauded as President Snyder presented a beautiful orchid to Mrs. Mel Kohl on the occasion of her 32nd wedding anniversary. The presentation was in recognition of her outstanding work and service to the Club. The program of the evening was a question and answer quiz. Based on information in the popular "Red Book," it emphasized the amount of knowledge which can be obtained from books published especially for numismatists. Foster Hall reported that the first coin exposition being sponsored by the Hawthorne Chamber of Commerce is shaping up, with many wonderful displays promised and much interest shown by dealers all over this country and Canada. Michael Hartt, a junior member and first time exhibitor, won first place with a twentieth century type set and commented that he wanted to have a complete set in brilliant uncirculated condition. Robert Axelrod won second with "A Little Bit of Americana." Richard Hall, another junior member and first time exhibitor, showed coins of all shapes from 1765 to the present. Mel Kohl and Ernest Featherston had unusual and beautiful exhibits of medals. The welcome mat is always out to visitors at our meetings the second Wednesday evening monthly at the Lynwood, Calif., Recreation Center. — ANN M. HALL, Sec.

The 515th meeting of the Western Reserve Numismatic Club, A.N.A. LM 32, was held September 9 at the Statler Hilton Hotel. Member Leon Lindheim, writer of a coin column in the Cleveland Plain Dealer, was the speaker of the evening on the subject "How to Start a Numismatic Library." His list of the basic books included Whitman's Red Book, Charlton's catalog of Canadian coins, Dr. Judd's book on patterns, Bressett's British coins, Buttreys' decimal coins of Mexico, Yeoman's modern foreign coins, Criswell's Confederate notes and Friedberg's book on paper money. With these and the four reprints from The Numismatist, Lindheim said he had been able to answer most of the questions sent to him at the Plain Dealer office. He displayed these and several other books that would go well in any library. Larry Freeman showed a photo of Tom L. Johnson, Mayor of Cleveland in 1903, who got the three cent car fare for the city. With the photo was a set of street car tokens issued in 1903 and 1904. — FRED N. HAHLER, Sec.

The third meeting of Numismatics International was held on a very wet September 16 evening. Fourteen persons gathered at 6925 Snider Plaza in Dallas, Texas. After the business session, H. D. Lawrence gave an interesting and instructive talk on ancient Roman and Greek coins, discussing portraiture, dating, and brief backgrounds of various emperors. We all failed to get our choice of the ancient coins Lawrence brought to the meeting when none of us could draw a "analemma," which was a point used in his talk to prove that people see but do not observe. Three new applications brought the membership roster to twenty. The new club, which is open to collectors of foreign coins and currency only, meets the third Wednesday monthly. — K. T. EDWARDS, Corr. Sec.

HOME AND HEADQUARTERS

Drive is now rolling — We are going to build it.

But we need your help — Read the following. Act Today.

The A.N.A. Home and Headquarters FUND RAISING DRIVE is under way and gaining momentum daily. You can contribute to this greatest Numismatic project of the 20th century, without perhaps costing you one thin dime in actual cash.

HOW? The A.N.A. will sell by Auction at the Houston Convention in 1965, worthwhile Numismatic Material that is donated to the Headquarters project before May 1, 1965.

Your numismatic donations to this great cause are tax deductible. Therefore, if you donate an item that cost you $10.00 years ago, and has a market value of $100.00 today, you will in effect, thru tax saving be making a profit on something you are giving away. How about it?

I have been selected by A.N.A. Officials to Catalog and conduct this Houston Sale. My personal services will be donated to this project. All proceeds will be paid directly to the American Numismatic Association. Numismatic items may be sent directly to me. You will receive an official receipt from the Executive Secretary's office. All who send nice items that can be used in this Houston sale, will have their names listed in the catalog, which will become a permanent library record.

Anyone giving material worth $100 or more will be listed as a donor and receive a special certificate of appreciation, $2,000 or more as a Patron and $10,000 or more as a Benefactor, and be honored in many ways.

Certainly most everyone, collector, dealer or investor, would surely agree that Numismatics has been wonderfully good to us over the years, now let us all put our shoulders to the wheel and do something worthwhile for Numismatics. We can put this Home and Headquarters drive over the top by the end of our 1965 convention with your help. This can be accomplished with ease, if all of you who can afford it, will get busy now and forward Nice Numismatic items of quality and value for this Houston sale.

This should not be taken as an invitation to cover us up with junk unsaleable white elephants, or current pocket change. We want only Material of Quality, that someone would want to buy and if at all possible, in single items, sets or groups that are practical to put into lots with a $50.00 value or over.

Help us to fulfill this long cherished dream of a National Home and Headquarters for the American Numismatic Association. Your help now can make it a reality by 1966.

"GOODIES FROM RARCOA"

PANAMA PACIFIC SET COMPLETE: The round and octagonal fifty dollar slugs are real choice pieces, as are the other three coins. Beautifully mounted in lucite holder. You had better purchase this set now, before it goes to the $12,000 price. This one is available at $10,400.

ROLL SET OF UNC. LIBERTY STANDING HALVES: Dates 1941-1947. This important holding comes from a recent large collection. In our opinion these coins are real sleepers, and a wise person will pick them up. Price, $3,100.

COMPLETE LINCOLN SET UNCIRCULATED: This choice run comes from the famous Weidenhoff collection. The price of the set is only $3,250 and includes an individual breakdown of each coin.

1949-P HALVES: We believe this is a very good item to put away for future "tradin stock." We offer these brilliant uncirculated gems while they last, at three for $100.

GOLD TYPE SET OF ALL 7 U.S. MINTS: This very scarce set of Half Eagles is mounted in a custom holder, with full historical description. The coins are beautifully matched E.F.-A.U. condition, and several are very, very difficult to locate. Price, $625.

UNUSUAL AND SCARCE NORSE AMERICAN ITEM: We are referring to the giant octagonal piece (3 inches in diameter) of which there were only 75 pieces struck. This 1925 silver beauty is unknown to most collectors. Price, $675.

upon the occasion of your SILVER ANNIVERSARY as a member of the AMERICAN NUMISMATIC ASSOCIATION. You are now on your way to acquire a gold medal. Keep your interest in your selected hobby NUMISMATICS alive, for with the entrance in our hobby of so many investors, speculators, accumulators and "fast-buck" artists we need as many of the "old-timers" as we can get to keep the hobby alive, and what it always was a HOBBY, an interest away from our regular vocation. This gives one a FULLER LIFE. There is a great satisfaction in finding a coin wanted, whether it is a copper worth just a few cents or one of unique type that you have been searching for, for many years.

All of these great rarities are GENUINE!! Copies are so stated of which we have only a few listed.

All are of great historical importance and the only known specimens now available for collectors. We have searched for years to obtain the finest and the rarest of Colonials, placing many in private collections, we now offer these from our own personal collection. If interested in more than one specimen or all, please feel free to inquire for as to total price and time payment which can be arranged.

We do not honestly know of any other Colonials listed here, for sale that is available, how could there be with only 2-3 known in most, and others in permanent collections.

This is a rare opportunity indeed to acquire for your personal collection or museum the rarest of COLONIALS, never before such an array of RARITIES being sold at one time, so take advantage of this opportunity now. Thank you for your present and past patronage.

Sincerely yours,
PHILIP E. BENEDETTI, SR.

PARADE OF RARITIES!

The showpieces of any collection are its rarities. Below we present a selection of desirable American and foreign rarities...each one a numismatic prize-winner. All coins carry the famous Empire guarantee of satisfaction...and will be shipped with the usual fast EMPIRE service.

- 1793 Half Cent The first year of half cent coinage...and the only year of the Liberty facing left with cap and pole type. We offer a pleasing well-centered VF-EF example...a prize for the collector of American type coins, or for the numismatist assembling a specialized (this is variety G4,E4) half cent collection $1,175.00
- 1793 Half Cent A duplicate specimen; however this one rates the grade of Fine to VF. A beautiful coin; well worth 625.00
- 1794 Half Cent Not a rare date; but in the EF grade here offered a very rare and desirable coin. Sharp and well struck EF...a joy to behold 450.00
- 1794 Half Cent A duplicate. This one, a VF which has its value lessened by a lightly pitted surface. Not as bad as it sounds; and well worth $150.00. Satisfaction or immediate refund, as always.
- 1795 Half Cent No pole to cap. Struck on a planchet made from a misstruck U.S. large cent. Sharp VF. Unusual! 250.00
- 1795 Half Cent A mint error...this piece is sharply double struck with 1/200 appearing twice, as do several other legends. The inequities of coin pricing are evident when you note that this coin is available for less than you would pay for some mint errors less than a decade old. Sharp VG. Rare! 125.00
- 1793 Chain AMERI Cent 1793 Chain AMERI. Variety S-1. The very first American cent. The piece here offered is a Fine condition specimen; with the reverse bolder than the obverse, as always. One of the most interesting, desirable and significant American coins 750.00
- 1793 Wreath Cent 1793 Wreath Cent; vine and bars edge. Fine condition...ideal for a type set 395.00
- 1802 Cent A well-struck AU specimen. Variety S-232. Pleasing brown surface; sharp in all respects 225.00
- 1806 Cent One of the rarest dates in the large cent series. This VF-EF specimen represents a quality not often found 150.00
- 1809 Cent Another premier date in the large cent series. This 1809 is Very Fine and eminently desirable 225.00
- 1868 Large Cent Struck at the mint in 1868 probably to create a rarity. A rarity it is...the 1868 cent with the exact design and appearance of the 1844-1857 type is far and away the rarest date in large cent series. Copper. Choice Proof. 7,250.00
- 1857 Flying Eagle Cent 1857 Flying Eagle Cent. Choice Brilliant Uncirculated. Nice for a type set, or a cent date set too 125.00
- 1858 Cent 1858 Flying Eagle Cent; small letters. Brilliant Uncirculated, but with rubbing...just enough to take it out of the "gem" class 99.00
- 1859 Proof Cent 1859 Indian Cent...with the shieldless laurel wreath design. We offer a choice Proof. How many 1859 Proof cents are in existence is a matter of conjecture; but certainly the number is less than 100 or so. Not more than a few dozen REALLY CHOICE specimens comparable to this one exist. $750.00 sale record for an equal piece 695.00
- 1859 Unc. Cent A choice and brilliant Uncirculated example of the cent described above 85.00
- 1861 Unc. Cent The 1861 is the lowest-mintage copper-nickel cent. The brilliant Uncirculated specimen here will delight even the most fastidious numismatist 115.00
- 1864-L Cent 1864-L Nearly AU, this EF-AU coin has completely full sharpness of detail and is worth more than 115.00
- 1866 Cent This 1866 is a sharp AU specimen. It's priced right at just 85.00
- 1867 Cent Brilliant Uncirculated...ideal for a first-class set 135.00
- 1868 Cent Brilliant Uncirculated...equal to the above coin and an ideal companion for it 150.00
- 1869 Cent Brilliant Uncirculated. One of the hardest to find Indian cents in this superb grade 285.00
- 1870 Cent Uncirculated, with a glossy brown surface. Pretty! An excellent value at just 120.00
- 1871 Cent Sharp and choice AU. One of the rarest of the Indians 135.00
- 1872 Cent Just VF. Priced about 10% below Guide Book...yours for only 77.00
- 1874 Cents A selection of 1874 Indian cents: Brown Unc. $62.00; Brilliant Unc. $95.00; Brilliant Proof 185.00
- 1876 Cent Choice brilliant Proof...the ultimate in condition, Rare, too! 250.00
- A Pair of 1877 Cents 1877...the most popular date in the Indian series. We present your choice of two worthwhile pieces: Sharp EF $450.00; choice Brilliant Proof $1,375.00. Note that both are BELOW Guide Book prices...excellent values for a dealer or collector alike.
- 1878 Cent Choice Brilliant Proof 1878 cent 185.00
- 1885 Cent 1885 Cent...a brilliant Proof specimen of the scarcest date in the 1880's 85.00

NATIONWIDE MEDAL ASSOCIATION

P.O. DRAWER 327, DALLAS, TEXAS

A REMINDER! Orders postmarked prior to November 20, 1964 is the determining factor for the number of medals to be struck of the first four subjects in this series of fifty two commemorative state medals. For the first four medals ONLY $16.60 (tax included).

One platinum medal of each subject will be donated to the American Numismatic Association for exhibit in their new home and headquarters. The second platinum medal of the first four subjects will be sold at the A.N.A. convention auction in 1966 and the proceeds donated to the Young Numismatist of America. The third and last platinum medal of each subject will be retained by the Association and will be available to coin clubs and coin conventions for noncompetitive exhibit.

With the suspension of proof sets and the 1964 date freeze plus other factors too numerous to mention we know this series of medals will be choice collectors' items soon after the medals are released.

Don't be the one, "to get your check back," write your order now. Don't be the one, "to say I wish I had started that series," mail your order today. Don't be the one, "to think oh! I can get them later," be the prudent man, "DON'T DELAY."

Sincerely yours,

NATIONWIDE MEDAL ASSOCIATION

BRILLIANT INSTANTLY . . . Safe for proof coins

CUSTOMER COMMENTS:

"I just finished the $5 set I bought in 1958. BRILLIANTIZE is terrific! Enclosed is check for $3. Please send a $2 set for myself and a $1 set for my next door neighbor."—Calif.

"I recently purchased 75 nickels that were found by a skin-diver friend of mine in Lake Erie: these coins were very dirty and coated with about 10 years of lime, etc. I cleaned most of them with BRILLIANTIZE and they are now in what I call Uncirculated condition, thanks to such a wonderful cleaner."—New York.

Each kit consists of a booklet of instructions, applicators, a bottle of No. 1 Brilliantize which removes tarnish instantly and a bottle of No. 2 Brilliantize which makes the brilliancy long lasting. Brilliantize kits are complete, compact, well sealed and very convenient to use. There is nothing more to buy.

FOREIGN COINS

For a good many years now a sustained flow of interesting, fairly attributed and soberly priced foreign patterns, gold, crowns, minor coins, medals, proclamation pieces, etc., has moved through my price lists which come out twice a month.

If you have a collection, hoard or stock of worthwhile foreign material you'd like to dispose of advantageously through competent hands, I'd like to hear of it.

WANT TO MAKE YOURSELF

$1,000,000 ?

We see advertisements like this in nearly every Numismatic publication. If you are looking for this "fantastic million" there is not a thing I can do for you!

However, if you are looking for fun, with perhaps some profits as incidental to your pleasure, you will get it from foreign coins, which are my specialty. You may also get an education in history, geogra-phy, languages and monetary systems, depending upon how much of a student you are. You may make some profit, but don't bank on a million!

My price lists are free, please write for them. If a dealer, write on your letter-head for my wholesale list.

Super-Investment Roll Special

The following Ten (10) Years Complete Annual Unc. Rolls are offered only as a "Complete Collection." Prices shown are today's Market Prices for just "average Unc. Rolls" and merely to inform you of this "Spectacular Investment Potential." These Superior "Original Bank-Wrapped" Choice Unc. Rolls are worth considerably more. Prices on the scarcer Rolls are advancing rapidly BUT the fact we need space in our Large ADT (former North Side Bank) Vault is why we are willing to part with them. With even a moderate success of the present campaign to discourage the indiscriminate hoarding of rolls, a Planned Investment Program has even a brighter future possibility. Following is indeed an Excellent Nucleus for such a program:
